The War
Today...By DeWitt MacKenzie

THE startling announcement by the government controlled Tokyo radio that Japan's policy is "not to reject any hand which offers peace" came to my desk in pre-dawn hours today while I was writing this article to report that I understand our forces in the Orient are worried for fear the Allies won't be as grimly firm with Nippon as they are with Germany.

Without jumping to sweeping conclusions, the Tokyo statement certainly can be labeled as a fishing expedition. The Mikado's little men are scouting for an easy peace, and that thought fits the thesis of my article.

Martin Spencer, Associated Press war correspondent who has been two years on the Pacific front, tells me there's widespread apprehension among the men that the end of the European war will find the American public weary of conflict and inclined to make a compromise peace with Japan. The Yanks who've been battling the barbarians in the heat of the stinking, disease ridden jungles don't want any temporizing. They want to beat the Japs to a pulp.

Well, I don't believe for a moment the home-front will weaken. We shall see the job through, though the length of time it will take is problematical. The Japanese are fighting a delaying action, just as the Germans have been. They're pursuing this strategy in hope that we will indeed get weary and compromise. For this reason the European war has been a Godsend to them. They haven't given a Tinker's dam whether Hitler won or lost, so long as he delayed transference of Allied war power to the Orient.

Much depends, of course, on Russia's attitude. If the Muscovites should join in the conflict against Japan, it would vastly expedite the end of a safe bet that this thought is in Tokyo's mind in today's peace fever. They haven't overlooked, either, that Roosevelt and Churchill conferred over the Pacific war at Malta, enroute to the meeting with Stalin.

A Japanese spokesman yesterday described the battle of the Philippines (which now has resolved itself into the battle of Luzon) as the strategic climax of the war. He recognized that Allied successes in the archipelago would place Japan itself in jeopardy.

Well, he's right, and the Luzon campaign can be written off as a success already, although we still have to wind up the terribly destructive fight for Manila against Japanese suicide squads, and clean up scattered bodies of enemy forces in various parts of the island. As for the stricken capital, Gen. MacArthur announced today that "the end of the enemy's trapped garrison is in sight."

The rest of the Japanese troops are widely dispersed. Some of them are cooped up on Bataan and Corregidor, of burning memories. Most of them are believed to have fled to the mountainous jungle country in the northern and northeastern parts of the big island.

There still remains considerable mystery as to how many troops Gen. Yamashita has on Luzon and why he didn't make a stronger defense at the outset. He supposedly had at least 150,000 men, though more than 65,000 have since become casualties. So far as concerns Manila, his failure to make a big stand there isn't surprising because MacArthur himself didn't LISBON, Feb. 14.—The State of Ohio stepped aside today and temporarily relinquished Robert Smith of Pittsburgh to Pennsylvania authorities to answer at least two armed robbery charges in that state.

Smith, who entered a plea of guilty Jan. 26 in the $700 Household Finance Co. robbery in East Liverpool last November, has been held in the Mahoning county jail pending attempts by members of his family to effect a settlement with Pennsylvania authorities.

Last week Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp ordered the sheriff to bring the prisoner to Lisbon Tuesday to be surrendered to the custody of his attorney, John E. SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14.—Japanese atrocities in Manila were bitterly denounced today by Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler, commanding the 37th U. S. division engaged in the battle of the Philippines capital.

Army photographers are documenting some of the atrocity incidents, said John Adams, CBS correspondent in a broadcast to his interview with Beightler.

"At one intersection in south Manila the staff officers found the bodies of 26 civilians of which nine were babies," Adams said. "It appeared that all had been bayoneted and many of them had their hands tied behind their backs."

President To Report
How Crimea Results
Can Shorten The War

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—President Roosevelt may report directly to Congress and the nation on the accomplishments and far-reaching significance of his meeting with Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill.

He is reported to be greatly cheered by the agreements reached on military and political issues. Associates consider it likely he will want to tell the American people himself, when he gets home, how these agreements can shorten the war and to contribute to an Atlantic Charter peace.

First hand information on the historic Big Three gathering in the Crimea came from James F. Byrnes, War Mobilization director, who arrived yesterday from the Crimea and met newsmen in late afternoon. Byrnes said he hoped Mr. Roosevelt would make a radio broadcast or address Congress.

He disclosed that the President had acted as chairman on the meeting and proposed two of the agreements—those on liberated areas and the Dumbarton Oaks voting issue—which were announced in Monday's communiqué.

The Dumbarton Oaks decision, like many others arrived at, remains temporarily secret, but it cleared the way for the April 25 United Nations conference at San Francisco. That date, Byrnes indicated, may reflect important estimates of future military developments by the Big Three.

He expressed conviction it had nothing to do with Russia's plans for possibly entering the war against Japan. He described it as probably the earliest date at which the leaders thought the conference could be called in view of the military situation.

Sees More Men In Conflict
If there is any hope that the major battles for Germany may be finished by that time, Byrnes did not indicate it. He said the military plans made in the Crimea call for a war involving more men than ever before in this conflict.

The military chiefs, he added, "do not minimize the possibility of civilian collapse in Germany" but they are counting only on fighting to the bitter end "with greater cooperation than has ever before existed."

Byrnes emphasized that the declaration on liberated areas, in which the United States is committed to share with Britain and Russia in European political settlements, is of the "greatest importance."

It means an end, he said, to the danger of political rivalries between the other two powers which would lead to development of spheres of influence.

In his opinion it minimizes, if it does not remove, the threat of violence in Europe's small nations where chaos follows war.

This should facilitate establishment of a United Nations security organization and the writing of the peace at another great international conference to follow after the end of hostilities. Byrnes indicated the

Sergt. Robert Scott
Is German Prisoner

Staff Sergt. Robert C. Scott, son of Mrs. Mae Scott, 742 W. Wilson st., has been taken prisoner in Germany following a flight over the Reich in a B-17 Flying Fortress, his mother was informed today.

Nearing the end of his required missions as a radio-operator gunner on one of the large Fortresses, Sergt. Scott has been overseas about seven months. He entered service two years ago and left this country following training at Tampa, Fla.

No details of the Salem soldier's capture were given his mother, but it is believed the plane in which he was flying was shot down over Germany. He had not been listed as missing in action, as is the usual procedure in such cases.

WAC Medical And Surgical
Recruits Are Sought Here

Urgent need for recruits for the hospital units of the WAC was emphasized by Sergt. Joan Shepard, of the Youngstown recruiting office, to members of the Salem recruiting committee, headed by R. S. McCulloch, in the Memorial building last night.

Accompanying her at the committee meeting were Capt. Patricia Reed of the WACS and Sergt. Thomas Johnson.

The recruiting campaign in Salem and throughout the northern half of Columbiana county as well as in Mahoning county, will continue until the first of May. The WAC recruiting officers will be at the Memorial building every Wednesday from 11 a. m. to 7:30 p. m.

May Choose Hospital
The pressing need is for WAC medical and surgical technicians, to serve in general hospitals from Ohio to California where disabled veterans are being given care. Applicants may choose their own hospital.

Any woman, aged 20 to 49 inclusive, may apply. Previous hospital training is not necessary, but at least two years of high school education is required.

Basic training of four and a half weeks will be given at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., to be followed by six weeks of special training at a medical department technicians' school. These units will then be sent to the hospitals for which they were recruited.

Ohio hospitals which recruiters may choose are the Crile General hospital near Cleveland and Fletcher General hospital at Cambridge.

Their Duties
WAC medical technicians' aid in the care of wounded soldiers. They help with blood transfusions, serve as ward masters, deliver meals to the soldiers and feed the helpless ones, and keep those essential records which are important to their progress and their postwar protection.

WAC surgical technicians specialize in the technique of assisting doctors and nurses don surgical gowns and gloves, attend to the care, repair and sterilization of operating instruments, and assist in the pre and post operative care of patients.

ALLIES PUSH
NEARER GOCH,
FOE RETREATSCanadians Charge Behind
Massed Guns and Flame
Throwers Today

(By Associated Press)

PARIS, Feb. 14.—The Canadian First army charged behind massed guns and flamethrowers today to within a mile and a half of Goch, German traffic center between the Rhine and Meuse, and outflanked it on the northeast by capturing Hasselt and Bedburg.

The Canadians, Scots and Britons of Gen. Henry Crerar's army advanced two miles or so, leaving behind all the 45-square-mile reichswald after breaking the core of resistance offered by seven armored German divisions. They virtually turned the northern end of the Siegfried line.

Canadian infantry closed up to the line of Oude Rhine, a tributary of the main river, northeast of Kleve, and sent a strong raiding force from captured Kellen almost to the Rhine ferry crossing facing the industrial center of Emmerich.

Tanks, huge sky fleets and parachute troops powered the assault rolling up the soggy German positions between the Rhine and the Meuse and threatening defenses on the Cologne plain between the flooded Roer and the great Rhine-land cities.

Foe Falling Back
The Germans were pushed at least three miles east of Kleve to positions a dozen miles inside the Reich. The foe appeared to be falling back to a new line between Goch, eight miles south of Kleve, and Calcar, close to the Rhine seven miles southeast of Kleve and 15 miles from Wesel.

More than 100 miles to the south, the American Third army gained up to a half mile in muddy, tortuous terrain through fresh breaches in the Siegfried line opposite Luxembourg. Blasting by tank destroyers and self-propelled guns carved avenues through the thickest part of the West Wall and a slaughtering of German artillery indicated the Germans were pulling back to new positions south of Pruem.

The breach was expanded to 4,000 yards depth and almost 11 miles in width by the 5th, 76th and 8th divisions.

Other fronts were quiet. Gen. Eisenhower had committed only a small fraction of his strength to the offensive.

They also reported Zhukov as "massing strong forces" on the Frankfurt-Fuerstenberg front along the Oder for an assault on Berlin.

Menaced Dresden, capital of the old kingdom of Saxony, was bombarded by 800 RAF planes last night, in demonstration of Allied military coordination. Moscow dispatches said Konev was 18 miles or less from the frontier of Saxony.

Konev drove forward in a great wheeling movement aimed at Berlin's southern approaches while the fall of Budapest—after a siege that cost the Nazis more than 150,000 men—freed two other powerful Russian armies for a renewed drive on Vienna.

Speedy Advance
The speed of Konev's advance—25 miles in two days—indicated there was little to give him pause short of the Niesse river.

A new Russian attempt to drive into Austria was portended in Marshal Stalin's order of the day announcing the capture of Budapest. It described the Hungarian capital as "a strategically-important German defense center on the road to Vienna."

Some direct supply lines to German forces in Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Yugoslavia have been cut and others are being imminently menaced by Marshal Konev's westward thrust across northern Silesia.

Berlin Defense
COMMAND CHOSEN

(By Associated Press)

Nazi Home Front Commander Heinrich Himmler has put the "politically reliable" but unknown former commander of the 24th Army division, Lt. Gen. Ritter Von Hauenschild, in command of the defense of Berlin and Brandenburg province, the British radio said today.

The broadcast said command of the approaches to Berlin is shared by four persons: (1) Himmler himself, who commands the central army group; (2) Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels, commander of the Berlin Volksturm; (3) Lt. Gen. Remer, commander of German forces in the Kuersstrin sector. At the time of the attack against Adolf Hitler last July 20, Remer was credited with having foiled an attempt to take over the Berlin government; and (4) Von Hauenschild.

Parents See Awards
Given Last Night

Approximately 375 people, the largest group ever to attend a Boy Scout celebration in Salem, enjoyed the annual covered supper of the Salem Boy Scouts and Cubs at the Memorial building last night in observance of National Boy Scout week.

Scouts, Cubs and their parents made up the group, which heard a brief talk by County Boy Scout Executive Don Gay of Lisbon, sang group songs directed by John Coleman of East Liverpool, saw moving pictures on "Cubbing In The Home" and the 1945 Camporee at Camp McKinley, near Lisbon, and honored various scoutmasters with service awards.

Veterans Awards

A veteran's award for five years of service went to James Helm, Troop 56, and Fred Eblevins, Troop 23. Similar awards for 10 and 15 years of service were given to Harold Shearer of Troop 2 and George H. Meiser of Troop 56.

Presentation of the Silver Beaver award, given annually to the person making the largest contribution to the boys of Columbiana county, was made to M. H. Mawhinney by Executive Gay. The award was formally presented two weeks ago, but the medal and certificate had not arrived at that time.

John Coleman sang several solos for the group, accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Berry, Commissioner. Eddie Howell opened the program by leading Cubs and Scouts in their respective oaths.

Russell Gibbs was program chairman. His committee included, Mawhinney, John Litt, Kenneth Wirtz and A. V. Smith.

The losses hiked the total of warships sunk in this war to 269.

The carrier would have a normal complement of 500 officers and men, a Navy officer said, and the minesweeper about 120 personnel.

DRESDEN HAMMERED
BY U. S. BOMBERS

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Feb. 14.—More than 2,250 U. S. bombers and fighters struck Germany in widespread attacks today, delivering a main blow at Dresden which was already burning from a night assault by 800 heavy RAF bombers.

Dresden is only 68 miles or less from advancing Russian troops, and is a nerve center of Nazi defenses in central Germany. The day and night air blows were in direct and coordinated support of Marshal Ivan Konev's First Ukrainian army.

The RAF bombed Dresden twice in attacks three hours apart.

Part of the American force, consisting of more than 1,350 Flying Fortresses and Liberators and 900 fighters, also bombed transportation and industrial targets of Chemnitz, 35 miles southwest of Dresden, and at Magdeburg, 70 miles west of Berlin.

A fourth formation was assigned to knock out an important Rhine bridge at Wesel, 19 miles ahead of the Canadian First army on the Western front.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 14.—A frantic struggle by a mother and grandfather to wrest a 21-month-old girl from the grip of a pet bulldog at their home last night was futile and the baby was killed.

When Marguerite Theresa Derdenger attempted to stroke the dog's back the animal clamped its jaws at the base of her neck, Mrs. Druella Derdenger, the child's mother, told police. Mrs. Derdenger and the child's grandfather, Albert Lange, fought for several minutes to loosen the dog's grip but when Marguerite finally was freed it was too late.

Police said the mother asked that the 5-year-old dog, named Wolf, be destroyed.

The child's father, Staff Sgt. Charles P. Derdenger, is stationed at Camp Berkeley, Texas.

U.S. 'BABY FLATTOP'
IS LOST IN PACIFIC

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The Ommaney Bay, one of the "baby flattops" which defied a Japanese battleship force and saved the Leyte beachhead last October, has been sunk.

A rookie in the Pacific fleet, the escort aircraft carrier since last June had tallied this imposing record against the Japanese:

A heavy cruiser and a troop transport sunk, four cruisers and four destroyers damaged, three battleships probably damaged, 16 planes shot down, other planes destroyed on the ground, troops wiped out with bombs, ground installations smashed.

In the Philippine area, the Navy announced, she was sunk by enemy action. The minesweeper Long also was lost. The number of casualties was not disclosed; their next of kin have been notified. Both commanders for 1944.

The losses hiked the total of warships sunk in this war to 269.

The carrier would have a normal complement of 500 officers and men, a Navy officer said, and the minesweeper about 120 personnel.

YANKS DRIVE

WALLED CITYMacArthur Declares End
Of Trapped Garrison
Is In Sight

By C. YATES McDANIEL

MANILA, Feb. 14.—Grim yanks, advancing among ruins strewn with bodies of the foe, loosed the decisive blow for Manila today as Japanese cornered in a three square mile area near the Pasig river's mouth after other doughboys on the southern outskirts seized Cavite naval base and two airfields.

"The end of the enemy's trapped garrison is in sight," Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced on the 12th day since his columns entered the city.

Doomed to be added to the more than 68,000 enemy casualties inflicted on Luzon island in five weeks, the Japanese survivors within Manila are massed behind thick walls of the Intramuros, within government buildings and among docks.

Cavite, on the south shore of Manila bay, fell Tuesday. The last Rising Sun warrior was killed at Nicholas airfield near the city's southern outskirts, ending five bitter days of struggle. Nielson airfield, on the southeast, was cleared of the foe.

Big Guns Silenced
Most of the enemy's big guns within Manila have been silenced. Thousands of Japanese have died here, adding to casualties which during the fifth week of the Luzon campaign exceeded 2,000.

Thirty-seventh division infantrymen of Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler, using flamethrowers, rifle and bayonet, moved on the Intramuros after a slow push through streets and a heavy naval base yielded 10 enemy seaplanes, a battery of wrecked houses, churches, hospitals and cemeteries.

The First Cavalry division of Maj. Gen. Vern D. Mudge, which crossed the Pasig on the eastern edge of Manila and skirted the battle pit of the 37th, plunged west to Manila bay yesterday through suburban Pasay.

Below Pasay, the 11th Airborne division of Maj. Gen. Joseph M. Swing snuffed out all enemy resistance at Nichols airfield. Captured Cavite naval base yielded 10 enemy seaplanes and a battery of three-inch guns.

American casualties for the fifth week rose from 7,076 to 9,683. The totals consisted of 2,102 killed—an increase of slightly over 500 in a week—192 missing and 7,389 wounded.

Out in Manila bay, Japan's silenced fortress of Corregidor was fed 150 more tons of bombs Monday, today's communique disclosed.

Other planes strafed enemy troops on Bataan peninsula.

In central Luzon, Maj. Gen. Edwin D. Patrick's Sixth division has reached Baler bay, 20 miles north of Dingalan, and occupied an abandoned airfield.

Air blows reported today included the sinking or damaging of four ships along the French-Indo China coast, the downing of a float plane off Saigon and destruction of rolling stock on Formosa.

Mullins Profit In

Mullins Mfg. Corp. today reported net sales of $40,557,417.97 for the year 1944 as compared to net sales of $21,169,468.98 for 1943.

Net profits before provisions for federal taxes on income for 1944 was $4,286,114.23 as against $2,116,501.42 the previous year.

Excess profits tax, normal income tax and surtax amount to $3,072,000, leaving $1,214,114.23 as net profit to be transferred to earned surplus for 1944.

Sales for current year have been reduced on the complete statements of income, profit and loss, but the estimated gross amount which would be refundable if renegotiation proceedings were to be settled on same basis for the year 1943 and provisions for federal taxes had been computed accordingly.

Two trucks sideswiped each other on Route 7, one quarter of a mile north of the Columbiana-Mahoning county line, at 9:15 p. m. yesterday. No one was injured, although both trucks were damaged slightly.

One truck, headed north, was driven by Robert Weaver, 30, of Toronto. The truck going south was driven by Edward Welch, 24, of East Liverpool.

The drivers told state patrolmen they were entrenched in a narrow key stretch on the road when the accident occurred.

The military chiefs, he added, "do not minimize the possibility of civilian collapse in Germany" but they are counting only on fighting to the bitter end "with greater cooperation than has ever before existed."

Byrnes emphasized that the declaration on liberated areas, in which the United States is committed to share with Britain and Russia in European political settlements, is of the "greatest importance."

"It means an end, he said, to the danger of political rivalries between the other two powers which would lead to development of spheres of influence.

In his opinion it minimizes, if it does not remove, the threat of violence in Europe's small nations where chaos follows war.

This should facilitate establishment of a United Nations security organization and the writing of the peace at another great international conference to follow after the end of hostilities. Byrnes indicated the

Sergt. Robert Scott Is German Prisoner

Staff Sergt. Robert C. Scott, son of Mrs. Mae Scott, 742 W. Wilson st., has been taken prisoner in Germany following a flight over the Reich in a B-17 Flying Fortress, his mother was informed today.

Nearing the end of his required missions as a radio-operator gunner on one of the large Fortresses, Sergt. Scott has been overseas about seven months. He entered service two years ago and left this country following training at Tampa, Fla.

No details of the Salem soldier's capture were given his mother, but it is believed the plane in which he was flying was shot down over Germany. He had not been listed as missing in action, as is the usual procedure in such cases.

WAC Medical And Surgical Recruits Are Sought Here

Urgent need for recruits for the hospital units of the WAC was emphasized by Sergt. Joan Shepard, of the Youngstown recruiting office, to members of the Salem recruiting committee, headed by R. S. McCulloch, in the Memorial building last night.

Accompanying her at the committee meeting were Capt. Patricia Reed of the WACOS and Sergt. Thomas Johnson.

The recruiting campaign in Salem and throughout the northern half of Columbiana county as well as in Mahoning county, will continue until the first of May. The WAC recruiting officers will be at the Memorial building every Wednesday from 11 a. m. to 7:30 p. m.

May Chance Hospital
The pressing need is for WAC medical and surgical technicians to serve in general hospitals where disabled veterans are being given care. Applicants may choose their own hospital.

Any woman, aged 20 to 49 inclusive, may apply. Previous hospital training is not necessary, but at least two years of high school education is required.

Basic training of four and a half weeks will be given at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., to be followed by six weeks of special training at a medical department technicians' school. These units will then be sent to the hospitals for which they were recruited.

Ohio hospitals which recruit may choose are the Crite General hospital near Cleveland and Fletcher General hospital at Cambridge.

Their Duties
WAC medical technicians' aid in the care of wounded soldiers. They help with blood transfusions, serve as ward masters, deliver meals to the soldiers and feed the helpless ones, and keep those essential records which are important to their progress and their postwar protection.

ALLIES PUSH NEARER GOCH, FOE RETREATS

Canadians Charge Behind Massed Guns and Flame Throwers Today

(By Associated Press)
PARIS, Feb. 14.—The Canadian First army charged behind massed guns and flamethrowers today to within a mile and a half of Goch, German traffic center between the Rhine and Meuse, and outflanked it on the northeast by capturing Hasselt and Bedburg.

The Canadians, Scots and Britons of Gen. Henry Crerar's army advanced two miles or so, leaving behind all the 45-square-mile reichswald after breaking the core of resistance offered by seven armored German divisions. They virtually turned the northern end of the Siegfried line.

Canadian infantry closed up to the line of Oude Rhine, a tributary of the main river, northeast of Kleve, and sent a strong raiding force from captured Kellen almost to the Rhine ferry crossing facing the industrial center of Emmerich.

Tanks, huge ski fleets and parachute troops powered the assault rolling up the soggy German positions between the Rhine and the Meuse and threatening defenses on the Cologne plain between the flooded Roer and the great Rhine-land cities.

Foe Falling Back
The Germans were pushed at least three miles east of Kleve to positions a dozen miles inside the Reich. The foe appeared to be falling back to a new line between Goch, eight miles south of Kleve, and Calcar, close to the Rhine seven miles southeast of Kleve and 15 miles from Wesel.

More than 100 miles to the south, the American Third army gained up to a half mile in muddy, tortuous terrain through fresh branches in the Siegfried line opposite Luxembourg. Blasting by tank destroyers and self-propelled guns carved avenues through, the thickest part of the West Wall and a slackening of German artillery indicated the Germans were pulling back to new positions south of Pruem.

The breach was expanded to 4,000 yards depth and almost 11 miles in width by the 5th, 76th and 80th divisions.

Other fronts were quiet. Gen. Eisenhower had committed only a small fraction of his strength to the offensive.

MICHAEL BENNING SHRAPNEL VICTIM

Mrs. Michael H. Benning of Garfield, formerly Betty Arnold, received word from her husband, Pvt. Michael Benning, advising he was seriously wounded in France on Jan. 17.

He said he is convalescing satisfactorily now and reported a piece of shrapnel entered his neck, passed through his larynx and lodged in his spine.

Pvt. Benning was inducted into the service March 20, 1944, and trained at Camp Wolters, Texas, and Camp Meade, Md. He was moved overseas in September, 1944. He is attached to the 79th division of the Seventh Army.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Benning, Sr., of 314 North Broadway, Salem.

A few days before being wounded he enjoyed spending two days visiting his brother Herman Benning, who is also serving with the Seventh Army in France.

BERLIN DEFENSE COMMAND CHOSEN

By Associated Press
Nazi Home Front Commander Heinrich Himmler has put the "politically reliable" but unknown former commander of the 24th Armored division, Lt. Gen. Ritter Von Hauenschild, in command of the defense of Berlin and Brandenburg province, the British radio said today.

The broadcast said command of the approaches to Berlin is shared by four persons: (1) Himmler himself, who commands the central army group; (2) Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels, commander of the Berlin Volksturm; (3) Lt. Gen. Remer, commander of German forces in the Kuernitz sector. At the time of the attack against Adolf Hitler last July 20, Remer was credited with having foiled an attempt to take over the Berlin government; and (4) Von Hauenschild.

1,000th Superfort

WICHITA, Kas., Feb. 14.—A B-29 Superfortress—the 1,000th to be manufactured at the Wichita plant of the Boeing Airplane Co.—was delivered to the Army today, plastered with about $10,000 in coins and currency.

Paul Thistlewaite of Opelousas, La. Weapon is complete as seen in photo, requiring no gun or launcher. Rack which incases it is inclined in direction of target, propelling charge in base is set off and shell rockets up, exploding its 110-pound charge of high explosive upon contact.

375 ATTEND SCOUT PARTY

Scouts, Cubs and Their Parents See Awards Given Last Night

Approximately 375 people, the largest group ever to attend a Boy Scout celebration in Salem, enjoyed the annual coverdiss supper of the Salem Boy Scouts and Cubs at the Memorial building last night in observance of National Boy Scout week.

Scouts, Cubs and their parents made up the group, which heard a brief talk by County Boy Scout Executive Don Gay of Lisbon, sang group songs directed by John Coleman of East Liverpool, saw moving pictures on "Cubbing in The Home" and the 1941 Camporee at Camp McKinley, near Lisbon, and honored various scoutmasters with service awards.

A veteran's award for five years of service went to James Helm, Troop 56, and Fred Blevins, Troop 23. Similar awards for 10 and 15 years of service were given to Harold Shearer of Troop 2 and George H. Melser of Troop 56.

Presentation of the Silver Beaver award, given annually to the person making the largest contribution to the boys of Columbiana county, was made to M. H. Mawhinney by Executive Gay. The award was formally presented two weeks ago, but the medal and certificate had not arrived at that time.

John Coleman sang several solos for the group, accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Berry, Commissioner. Eddie Howell opened the program by leading Cubs and Scouts in their respective songs.

Russell Gibbs was program chairman. His committee included, Mawhinney, John Litty, Kenneth Wirtz and A. V. Smith.

DRESDEN HAMMERED BY U. S. BOMBERS

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Feb. 14.—More than 2,250 U. S. bombers and fighters struck Germany in widespread attacks today, delivering a main blow at Dresden which was already burning from a night assault by 800 heavy RAF bombers.

Dresden is only 68 miles or less from advancing Russian troops, and is a nerve center of Nazi defenses in central Germany. The day and night air blows were in direct and coordinated support of Marshal Ivan Konev's First Ukrainian army.

The RAF bombed Dresden twice in attacks three hours apart.

Part of the American force, consisting of more than 1,350 Flying Fortresses and Liberators and 900 fighters, also bombed transportation and industrial targets of Chemnitz, 35 miles southwest of Dresden, and at Magdeburg, 70 miles west of Berlin.

A fourth formation was assigned to knock out an important Rhine bridge at Wesel, 19 miles ahead of the Canadian First army on the Western front.

YANKS DRIVE ON ENEMY IN WALLED CITY

MacArthur Declares End Of Trapped Garrison Is In Sight

By C. YATES McDANIEL
MANILA, Feb. 14.—Orim yanks, advancing among ruins strewn with bodies of the foe, loosed the decisive blow for Manila today as Japanese cornered in a three square mile area near the Pasig river's mouth after other doughboys on the southern outskirts seized Cavite naval base and two airfields.

"The end of the enemy's trapped garrison is in sight," Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced on the 15th day since his columns entered the city.

Doomed to be added to the more than 68,000 enemy casualties inflicted on Luzon Island in five weeks, the Japanese survivors within Manila are massed behind thick walls of the Intramuros, within government buildings and among docks.

Cavite, on the south shore of Manila bay, fell Tuesday. The last Rising Sun warrior was killed at Nichols airfield near the city's southern outskirts, ending five bitter days of struggle. Nielson airfield, on the southeast, was cleared of the foe.

Big Guns Silenced
Most of the enemy's big guns within Manila have been silenced. Thousands of Japanese have died here, adding to casualties which during the fifth week of the Luzon campaign exceeded 2,000.

Thirty-seventh division infantrymen of Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler, using flamethrowers, rifle and bayonet, moved on the Intramuros after a slow push through streets and alleyways, over and around wrecked houses, churches, hospitals and cemeteries.

The First Cavalry division of Maj. Gen. Vern D. Mudge which crossed the Pasig on the eastern edge of Manila and skirted the battle pit of the 37th, plunged west to Manila bay yesterday through suburban Pasay.

Below Pasay, the 11th Airborne division of Maj. Gen. Joseph M. Swing snuffed out all enemy resistance at Nichols airfield. Captured Cavite naval base yielded 10 enemy airplanes and a battery of three-inch guns.

American casualties for the fifth week rose from 7,076 to 9,883. The totals consisted of 2,102 killed—an increase of slightly over 500 in a week—192 missing and 7,689 wounded.

Out in Manila bay, Japan's silenced fortress of Corregidor was fed 150 more tons of bombs Monday, today's communiqué disclosed. Other planes strafed enemy troops on Bataan peninsula.

In central Luzon Maj. Gen. Edwin D. Patrick's Sixth division has reached Baler bay, 20 miles north of Dingalan, and occupied an abandoned airfield.

Air blows reported today included the sinking or damaging of four ships along the French-Indo China coast, the downing of a float plane off Saigon and destruction of rolling stock on Formosa.

Mullins Profit In '44 Is $1,314,114

Mullins Mfg. Corp. today reported net sales of $40,557,417 for the year 1944 as compared to net sales of $21,109,468 for 1943.

Net profits before provisions for federal taxes on income for 1944 was $4,286,114.29 as against $3,116,501.42 the previous year.

Excess profits tax, normal income tax and surtax amount to $3,073,000, leaving $1,314,114.29 as net profits to be transferred to earned surplus for 1944.

Sales for current year have been reduced on the complete statements of income, profit and loss, but the estimated gross amount which would be refundable if renegotiation proceedings were to be settled on same basis for the year 1943 and provisions for federal taxes had been computed accordingly.

Trucks Crash On Route 7, Both Drivers Uninjured

Two trucks sideswiped each other on Route 7, one quarter of a mile north of the Columbiana-Mahoning county line at 9:15 p. m. yesterday. No one was injured, although both trucks were damaged slightly.

One truck, headed north, was driven by Robert Weaver, 26, of Toronto. The truck going south was driven by Edward Welch, 34, of East Liverpool.

The drivers told state patrolmen they were entrenched in a narrow key stretch on the road when the accident occurred.

Germany's Prizes

As the implications of Allied pressure on Germany from the east and west extricate themselves from the welter of current news, civilian observers are increasingly aware of a relationship of military effort that formerly was largely overlooked.

The immediate Russian objective is Berlin—either its outright occupation, or its removal as a factor in Germany's war effort. As the capital, largest city and principal center of communications, Berlin's fall would be a tremendous military blow, quite aside from the loss of prestige that is implicit in the loss of any capital city.

But relative to the military importance of the Ruhr and the Rhine valley, the objective of the Allies in the west, Berlin is secondary. If that vital area of production and resources were still secure, Germany could afford to lose Berlin. But it could not afford to lose its richest industrial area under any circumstances.

The relative importance of the two prizes in greatest jeopardy is suggested plainly by the battlefronts on today's maps. It is evident now that the western Allies will not get to Berlin; they are too far away. It is likewise evident that Russia will not need to penetrate as far west as the Rhine valley, unless the Allied pressure already bearing on that area can be prevented from breaking through. The east-west strategy is complementary. The Allies in the west will be glad to relinquish the pleasure of entering Berlin, if they can knock out the industrial resources which have been Germany's backbone in the war.

Little Warriors

Germany and Japan both are known to be depending heavily on guerrilla warfare in the wake of battlefield defeats to raise the cost of Allied victory. The Germans, it is believed, will withdraw to the Bavarian Alps, where they might put up resistance for years. The Japanese will do what they have done everywhere, are doing now on Luzon and undoubtedly are preparing to do in the homeland—fight to the last survivor.

Guerrillas—"little warriors," in the sense that the original Spanish word meant "little war"—would not alter the outcome of the war. They would make it more costly, however, and therein lies a point of tremendous significance in further dealings with Germany and Japan. By their plans for carrying on guerrilla warfare, they reveal plainly that they do not recognize defeat as final. Every cache of ammunition and food, every fortified place, every firearm carried away for future resistance is direct testimony to their determination to continue to make war.

These plain intentions should refute the sentimental hope that after some given day in the future the Germans will become even as little woolly lambs and the little men of Japan will bow low and hiss their apologies for running amuck in the Orient. Unless the Germans and Japanese, themselves, turn on the guerrillas and destroy them, they will give the lie to every protestation of peaceful intentions.

Corridor in Reverse

In the bleak weeks and months after Pearl Harbor, the American impression of Japan's unleashed military power in the western Pacific drew to a slow and distressing focus on Corregidor whose last days as a fortress recently have been described by prisoners taken there by the Japanese. Japan staged an impressive demonstration of power.

But since the surrender of Corregidor on May 6, 1942, the United States has projected its own military power across two oceans and now is on the verge of recovering the fortress from Japan by the use of a striking force so vast that Corregidor itself is little more than an incident in the offensive aimed at the Japanese homeland. No other single instance clarifies so completely the proportions of America's strength, potential in 1941, dynamic in 1945. That strength and the new strength of Russia have become the two major factors in the security of all nations.

A Thaw By Any Other Name

The traditional January thaw that never happened finally began to happen in February. But a January thaw by any other month is still no bargain, being perhaps the ugliest of all natural happenings.

Suddenly all the dismal litter buried under the snow in the towns and cities is brought back to sight and mind. The pock-marks of epidemic civilization, which had been concealed for a time by nature's winter camouflage reappear and haven't improved a bit. The passing automobiles splash hapless pedestrians, with special attention to the sheer stockings of the ladies who still have stockings and to the sheerer legs of the other ladies who don't have them. Even the ground where it finally appears on a sunny slope isn't quite up to expectations. After so long an absence, it was expected to reappear all fresh and covered with springlike green—but it was just sodden and dirty and dismal and bedraggled like everything else, come the big thaw.

The Stars Say

For Thursday, February 15.

EXCEEDINGLY lively and enterprising efforts may keep this day under high tempo, with constructive ideas, original plans and programs under very exciting and strenuous impetus. New projects of large importance should thrive to an astonishing objective because of innovation, unusual skill and ingenuity. However, there may be obstacles, delays and setbacks, with the menace of fraud, imposition and sinister undercurrents to be valiantly met and vanquished.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate an exceptionally lively and progressive year, with certain new projects or undertakings out of the routine under exciting stimuli. Novelty, originality, ingenuity may carry objectives to high goals. Perfidy and subtle intrigues may influence the health, spirits and the family unless managed wisely.

A child born on this day will possess unusual talents, creative ability and skill, but may be subject to fraud or imposition.

Patriotism Revived

By James Thrasher

It seems rash and impertinent to attempt any commentary on what is probably the war's most eloquent and inspiring story. And yet we cannot refrain from calling attention to the reaction of two of the American prisoners to their dramatic rescue from the Cabanatuan camp on Luzon.

One of them shouted "God Bless America!" The other, before he gave way to his emotions, said, "It is right through me—the flag."

We should imagine that few Americans read those words, in the stories of the rescue, without a feeling of pride and an honest lump in their throats. And we should also imagine that with that feeling, perhaps, the emotion of patriotism regained much of its former prestige.

In the sophisticated America of the last 30 or 40 years, one just didn't spontaneously invoke God's blessing upon America. Rather, one was inclined to magnify America's faults and to dismiss her virtues simply as so many manifestations of materialistic prosperity. And one left all expression of feeling at the sight of the flag to Francis Scott Key and the Fourth of July orators.

That at least was the reaction of most of our intellectual leaders, particularly in the Twenties. And there was some excuse for it. Many of their fellow Americans were convinced of America's perfection, and defended that complacent conviction fiercely.

But the reaction defeated its purpose. Such phrases as these soldiers used would have been laughed off a stage, sneered at in books, picked to pieces in conversation. In many circles patriotism was actually something to be ashamed of.

But the war has shown us all that civilization itself has largely been preserved by our once-derided materialism. It has shown us that we could have spiritual as well as material growth in time of emergency. And we have now come back to the day when a boy can cry "God bless America!" and another can weep on seeing the flag, after a painful ordeal of learning, day after hungry weary day, what the absence of that flag can mean. And we can all share their emotion and be moved by it.

Some may fear that many soldiers, feeling as these lads on Luzon felt, will come home with a desire to find and keep America as they left it, and thus encourage reactionism or strife.

But patriotism can be revised as well as revived. It need not degenerate into chauvinism and foreign bias as long as our national life is governed by decency and unity. We have seen, for all our imperfections, too many instances of those virtues during the war to doubt that.

In the meantime, it is good to welcome back a little old-fashioned, unabashed patriotism after all these cynical years.

Maybe it was the socks after all, and not Sinatra, that caused all those swoons.

BERLIN THREATENED FROM SOUTH

THE ENTIRE SOUTHERN FLANK of Germany's defensive front in the east is menaced by the mighty new Soviet offensive which has sent flying columns of Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainian Army spearheading toward Berlin from lower Silesian bridgeheads 115 miles away. While the Soviet high command was silent on this great central threat to Berlin, Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First White Russian Army was reported moving up men and materiel for the final smash through the open terrain before the Nazi capital. The Silesian capital of Breslau was "completely encircled," according to a London broadcast, while the Germans were reporting Russian forces thrown back by the Nazis in the Canth-Kostenblut area, preventing a union with troops driving northwards. The Nazis also reported a "big Soviet advance" to within 15 miles of the Baltic port of Stettin.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

The Menopause and Treatment

BY DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

President, Chicago Board of Health

One of the most trying periods in a woman's life used to be that period known as the "change," or menopause. Such symptoms as flashes of heat, chilliness, nervousness, irritability, headache and sleeplessness frequently occur, particularly in those cases that do not avail themselves of the most modern treatment. It would appear probable that the symptoms are due to lack of certain secretions formed by various glands in the body, particularly the pituitary and the ovaries. Today, glandular preparations as well as other substances may be utilized to relieve the symptoms of the change.

Many systems of treatment are helpful. One of them has been reported by Doctor Frederick E. Lane, of Brooklyn, who has employed three preparations in treating about three hundred and fifty patients with symptoms of the menopause. He has carried on this treatment over a period of two years and noted which form of treatment gave the best results.

The first preparations employed are known as estrogenic substances. These are given by injection into a muscle. The second preparation used is diethylstilbestrol, which can be taken by mouth, and the third is a new preparation known as hexestrol-phenobarbital, which is also administered by mouth.

Apparently the best results were obtained by injections of the first preparation used, that is, the estrogenic substances. However, estrogens are expensive and the injections must be given about three times a week, which means a burden for both the physician and the patient.

The results with diethylstilbestrol were not as good as those obtained with the estrogens. The results with the hexestrol-phenobarbital were definitely superior to those obtained with diethylstilbestrol.

Treatment Reaction

More than two-thirds of the patients treated with the hexestrol-phenobarbital preparation showed marked improvement, as compared with less than 50 per cent of those

Leetonia Gives $454.95

To March of Dimes Drive

LEETONIA, Feb. 14—Paul Otto, chairman of the March of Dimes campaign, reveals that Leetonia and vicinity have contributed $454.95.

Leetonia was third in the list in size of contributions last year, and the amount is already over $100 more than was contributed in 1944. Brillhart Missionary society of St. Paul's Lutheran church was entertained at a dinner meeting at the home of Mrs. Clarence Barnes Monday evening. Mrs. Elmer Sweeley was the leader.

Michael Burick, who for the past 11 months has been stationed at Camp Wolters, Texas, has been promoted to first lieutenant.

Inducted into the army in March, 1942, he received his basic training at Camp Perry and then attended officers' candidate school at Grinnell college, Ia. Graduating from OCS in May, 1943, he was commissioned second lieutenant and served for eight months at the prisoner of war camp at Douglas, Wyo. His present assignment at Camp Wolters is that of chief, Purchasing branch.

Lieut. William Readshaw is now stationed at Kingman Army airfield, Kingman, Ariz. His wife, Virginia, is living at Kingman.

David Fenstermaker entertained at his home Saturday evening for Dean Vestal, who leaves Thursday for the U. S. Navy.

Poor Digestion? Headachy? Sour or Upset? Tired-Listless?

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.

Each day, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and irritable. Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better. Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills aid digestion after Nature's own order. Get them at any drugstore. As directed. Get them at any drugstore. Germany's Prizes

As the implications of Allied pressure on Germany from the east and west extricate themselves from the welter of current news, civilian observers are increasingly aware of a relationship of military effort that formerly was largely overlooked.

The immediate Russian objective is Berlin—either its outright occupation, or its removal as a factor in Germany's war effort. As the capital, largest city and principal center of communications, Berlin's fall would be a tremendous military blow, quite aside from the loss of prestige that is implicit in the loss of any capital city.

But relative to the military importance of the Ruhr and the Rhine valley, the objective of the Allies in the west, Berlin is secondary. If that vital area of production and resources were still secure, Germany could afford to lose Berlin. But it could not afford to lose its richest industrial area under any circumstances.

The relative importance of the two prizes in greatest jeopardy is suggested plainly by the battlefronts on today's maps. It is evident now that the western Allies will not get to Berlin; they are too far away. It is likewise evident that Russia will not need to penetrate as far west as the Rhine valley, unless the Allied pressure already bearing on that area can be prevented from breaking through. The east-west strategy is complementary. The Allies in the west will be glad to relinquish the pleasure of entering Berlin, if they can knock out the industrial resources which have been Germany's backbone in the war.

Little Warriors

Germany and Japan both are known to be depending heavily on guerrilla warfare in the wake of battlefield defeats to raise the cost of Allied victory. The Germans, it is believed, will withdraw to the Bavarian Alps, where they might put up resistance for years. The Japanese will do what they have done everywhere, are doing now on Luzon and undoubtedly are preparing to do in the homeland—fight to the last survivor.

Guerrillas—"little warriors," in the sense that the original Spanish word meant "little war"—would not alter the outcome of the war. They would make it more costly, however, and therein lies a point of tremendous significance in further dealings with Germany and Japan. By their plans for carrying on guerrilla warfare, they reveal plainly that they do not recognize defeat as final. Every cache of ammunition and food, every fortified place, every firearm carried away for future resistance is direct testimony to their determination to continue to make war.

These plain intentions should refute the sentimental hope that after some given day in the future the Germans will become even as little woolly lambs and the little men of Japan will bow low and hiss their apologies for running amuck in the Orient. Unless the Germans and Japanese, themselves, turn on the guerrillas and destroy them, they will give the lie to every protestation of peaceful intentions.

Corridor In Reverse

In the bleak weeks and months after Pearl Harbor, the American impression of Japan's unleashed military power in the western Pacific drew to a slow and distressing focus on Corregidor whose last days as a fortress recently have been described by prisoners taken there by the Japanese. Japan staged an impressive demonstration of power.

But since the surrender of Corregidor on May 6, 1942, the United States has projected its own military power across two oceans and now is on the verge of recovering the fortress from Japan by the use of a striking force so vast that Corregidor itself is little more than an incident in the offensive aimed at the Japanese homeland. No other single instance clarifies so completely the proportions of America's strength, potential in 1941, dynamic in 1945. That strength and the new strength of Russia have become the two major factors in the security of all nations.

A Thaw By Any Other Name

The traditional January thaw that never happened finally began to happen in February. But a January thaw by any other month is still no bargain, being perhaps the ugliest of all natural happenings.

Suddenly all the dismal litter buried under the snow in the towns and cities is brought back to sight and mind. The pock-marks of epidemic civilization, which had been concealed for a time by nature's winter camouflage reappear and haven't improved a bit. The passing automobiles splash hapless pedestrians, with special attention to the sheer stockings of the ladies who still have stockings and to the sheerer legs of the other ladies who don't have them. Even the ground where it finally appears on a sunny slope isn't quite up to expectations. After so long an absence, it was expected to reappear all fresh and covered with springlike green—but it was just sodden and dirty and dismal and bedraggled like everything else, come the big thaw.

The Stars Say

For Thursday, February 15.

EXCEEDINGLY lively and enterprising efforts may keep this day under high tempo, with constructive ideas, original plans and programs under very exciting and strenuous impetus. New projects of large importance should thrive to an astonishing objective because of innovation, unusual skill and ingenuity. However, there may be obstacles, delays and setbacks, with the menace of fraud, imposition and sinister undercurrents to be valiantly met and vanquished.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate an exceptionally lively and progressive year, with certain new projects or undertakings out of the routine under exciting stimuli. Novelty, originality, ingenuity may carry objectives to high goals. Perfidy and subtle intrigues may influence the health, spirits and the family unless managed wisely.

A child born on this day will possess unusual talents, creative ability and skill, but may be subject to fraud or imposition.

Patriotism Revived

By James Thrasher

It seems rash and impertinent to attempt any comment on what is probably the war's most eloquent and inspiring story. And yet we cannot refrain from calling attention to the reaction of two of the American prisoners to their dramatic rescue from the Cabanatuan camp on Luzon.

One of them shouted "God Bless America!" The other, before he gave way to his emotions, said, "It is right through me—the flag."

We should imagine that few Americans read those words, in the stories of the rescue, without a feeling of pride and an honest lump in their throats. And we should also imagine that with that feeling, perhaps, the emotion of patriotism regained much of its former prestige.

In the sophisticated America of the last 30 or 40 years, one just didn't spontaneously invoke God's blessing upon America. Rather, one was inclined to magnify America's faults and to dismiss her virtues simply as so many manifestations of materialistic prosperity. And one left all expression of feeling at the sight of the flag to Francis Scott Key and the Fourth of July orators.

That at least was the reaction of most of our intellectual leaders, particularly in the Twenties. And there was some excuse for it. Many of their fellow Americans were convinced of America's perfection, and defended that complacent conviction fiercely.

But the reaction defeated its purpose. Such phrases as these soldiers used would have been laughed off a stage, sneered at in books, picked to pieces in conversation. In many circles patriotism was actually something to be ashamed of.

But the war has shown us all that civilization itself has largely been preserved by our once-derided materialism. It has shown us that we could have spiritual as well as material growth in time of emergency. And we have now come back to the day when a boy can cry "God bless America!" and another can weep on seeing the flag, after a painful ordeal of learning, day after hungry weary day, what the absence of that flag can mean. And we can all share their emotion and be moved by it.

Some may fear that many soldiers, feeling as these lads on Luzon felt, will come home with a desire to find and keep America as they left it, and thus encourage reactionism or strife.

But patriotism can be revised as well as revived. It need not degenerate into chauvinism and foreign bias as long as our national life is governed by decency and unity. We have seen, for all our imperfections, too many instances of those virtues during the war to doubt that.

In the meantime, it is good to welcome back a little old-fashioned, unabashed patriotism after all these cynical years.

Clinical Conjecture

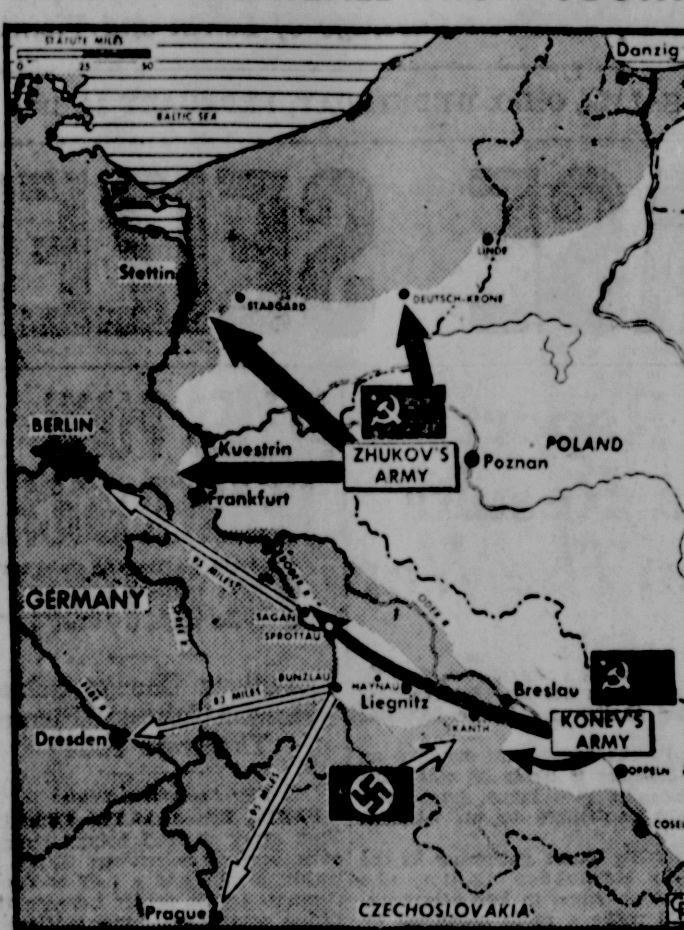

The city health officer of St. Paul, Minn., says that colds, flu, pneumonia, tuberculosis and other ills are traceable to chills caused by wearing bobby socks. Maybe it was the socks after all, and not Sinatra, that caused all those swoons.

There was a slight mistake in the German broadcast of "Schluss, Schluss" (the end, the end). It's really only the beginning!

The price of pork in Chungking jumped to $180 (Chinese) per pound. That's a new one—the pig jumping over the moon.

The man who changes his will constantly is just a fresh firebrand.

BERLIN THREATENED FROM SOUTH

THE ENTIRE SOUTHERN FLANK of Germany's defensive front in the east is menaced by the mighty new Soviet offensive which has sent flying columns of Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainian Army spearing toward Berlin from lower Silesian bridgeheads 115 miles away. While the Soviet high command was silent on this great central threat to Berlin, Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First White Russian Army was reported moving up men and materiel for the final smash through the open terrain before the Nazi capital. The Silesian capital of Breslau was "completely encircled," according to a London broadcast, while the Germans were reporting Russian forces thrown back by the Nazis in the Canth-Kostenbuld area, preventing a union with troops driving northwestwards. The Nazis also reported a "big Soviet advance" to within 15 miles of the Baltic port of Stettin.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

The Menopause and Treatment

BY DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN
President, Chicago Board of Health

One of the most trying periods in a woman's life used to be that period known as the "change," or menopause. Such symptoms as flashes of heat, chilliness, nervousness, irritability, headache and sleeplessness frequently occur, particularly in those cases that do not avail themselves of the most modern treatment. It would appear probable that the symptoms are due to lack of certain secretions formed by various glands in the body, particularly the pituitary and the ovaries. Today, glandular preparations as well as other substances may be utilized to relieve the symptoms of the change.

Many systems of treatment are helpful. One of them has been reported by Doctor Frederick E. Lane, of Brooklyn, who has employed three preparations in treating about three hundred and fifty patients with symptoms of the menopause. He has carried on this treatment over a period of two years and noted which form of treatment gave the best results.

The first preparations employed are known as estrogenic substances. These are given by injection into a muscle. The second preparation used is diethylstilbestrol, which can be taken by mouth, and the third is a new preparation known as hexestrol-phenobarbital, which is also administered by mouth.

Apparently the best results were obtained by injections of the first preparation used, that is, the estrogenic substances. However, estrogens are expensive and the injections must be given about three times a week, which means a burden for both the physician and the patient.

The results with diethylstilbestrol were not as good as those obtained with the estrogens. The results with the hexestrol-phenobarbital were definitely superior to those obtained with diethylstilbestrol.

Treatment Reaction

More than two-thirds of the patients treated with the hexestrol-phenobarbital preparation showed marked improvement, as compared with less than 50 per cent of those treated with the diethylstilbestrol. About a third of the patients treated with diethylstilbestrol failed to show any improvement whatsoever, while less than one-eighth of those on hexestrol-phenobarbital failed to improve.

Another advantage of the hexestrol-phenobarbital preparation is that it does not cause unfavorable reactions as frequently as does diethylstilbestrol. Thus, in the patients treated with this latter drug, more than one-third had reactions, while only about one-fifth of those on the newer preparation reacted to it.

The hexestrol-phenobarbital is given in large doses—from three to five times greater than the doses of diethylstilbestrol. The phenobarbital in the preparation seems to be quite helpful in controlling nervousness and sleeplessness—conditions which are so often present during the menopause. With this treatment it is necessary for the patient to visit the physician only once or twice a month after the symptoms have been brought under control. Thus, many of them have been able to carry on their work. It would appear that the drug is best taken in the evening, before retiring.

In those cases which do not respond to the treatment, the use of estrogens by injections should be employed.

Questions and Answers

A Blood Clot
A month after the birth of my second child I developed a blood clot in my right lung. Now some tightness remains. Is this due to the process of healing?—Mrs. D. W.

Answer
The feeling of tightness may be due to some nervous disorder. I do not believe the process of healing would cause the tightness. An X-ray of the lung would be helpful in determining just what is wrong.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE
"Leahy, if they turned in all that treasure, they could be sent to prison. Actually, I don't believe it would happen. But you can see how they might almost rather die than surrender that gold—if you stop to think what sort of men they are and how long they've depended on it. You can see why they're afraid to exchange it—these days. Let it sit. That's their idea. You can also see why the wire about Hank's approach, his mention of a 'new grub-stake,' and the sudden, violent death of Jim Calder got all three of us in a tizzy. It looked as if our sins would find us out. That's what Jim was razzled about when he barged in here!"

Aggie felt a need for his pipe. "I can see everything you've said," he replied, after lighting it. "Except that I can't yet understand why none of you came out with it—under the present circumstances." "I am coming out with it," Sarah said. "In doing so, I'm spilling private matters that have been in the dark for thirty-odd years. I'm betraying George Davis and Byron Wade. At least, they'd consider it betrayal. They haven't told this story to Wes Wickman—or to the coroner—or anybody. I'm risking their hatred. I'm risking revenge. I've said to myself ten thousand times in the last three days that if I tell, and if it proves that Hank is still somewhere in the lake, and Jim did tumble into some youngster's deadfall, I'll never be able to hold my head up around here again. We felt mighty serious about that cache. Even Jim would never have dared to violate it, I think."

"Are you sure?" "Pretty sure," she answered after a moment. "Yes. Certain, almost." "Couldn't you check?" "I've got the mumps! I'm sick! I can't poke in cellars—" "I mean—have George Davis check. Or Waite." "It's difficult now; the club is constantly milling with people. Guests all day. Employees at night. We made our deposits in the winter, when it was empty. Our own manager was in charge. We'd bring up what he thought was wine. We had our own wine stock, and bins in the cellars."

"Couldn't your 'other' cellar have been found by somebody else?" Sarah shrugged. "Nobody living knows where it is—except the four of us. Three—now. We made sure of that. It's cut in bedrock—and we're using an old safe which belonged to the Sachem House. It's beautifully hidden; it was meant to be. The smoothies in the seventies and eighties used that safe. In all these years—nobody has ever tampered with the place—or found the entrance."

"What about somebody like Jack—who's up here alone all winter?" Sarah smiled. "Jack? If he found the cellar—he'd tell the world! It would be a game for him. Fun. We'd get telegrams: 'Come up! Great mystery uncovered!' You know. He might love discovering such a place, but he'd never crack it open without permission. He's such a lamb! The truth is—he'd never find it. You'd have to blast. It isn't something you can stumble on. You've got to know it's there, and know how to get to it."

Old John's feet sounded on the stairs. He brought in a tray on which were coffee cups and a steaming glass container. He looked reproachfully at Sarah. "You should be in bed, Miss Sarah. Since you're not, I thought you might like some coffee. I heard you talking—" "Yes, John. I'm going back, soon. I wanted to have a talk with my nephew. It's done me a world of good! And this is very thoughtful!"

Aggie nodded. "Genius, John." They waited until John had gone downstairs again. Aggie dropped four lumps of sugar into his aunt's cup. "That puts a new face on what's happening here!" "Does it, Aggie? Are you sure?" She stirred the coffee and drained the cup. "I don't know exactly what I mean, myself. But—a fortune in gold stowed away in a cellar! That, somehow, is more in scale—with things." He smiled at his aunt. "I'm mighty glad you told me. At least—we know what to think about. What to check on next. You better get back to your room—" Sarah nodded, leaned ponderously forward, and tried to stand. The effort sapped the blood from her brain. She tottered, smiled rather foolishly, and fell back in a faint. Aggie heard his voice shouting for John; the old man's feet clattered on the stairs. He wrapped one arm around his aunt's back and thrust the other under her knees. With a strain that enlarged the veins along his temples, he lifted his aunt and carried her to his bed.

"Call Dr. Davis, at once," he said, when John entered. John hurried down the stairs again. Aggie listened to Sarah's heart. It was feeble and uneven, but not desperately so. Just a faint. Fatigue. Strain. Relief. Good old Sarah. He unwrapped the cold moist towel from her neck and began to wipe her face with it, roughly. Sarah stirred.

"Old fool," she muttered. "Old sissy! How'd you get me in this bed?"

Aggie grinned. "Levitation." Sarah's answering grin was faint but game. "What a powerhouse! Well! All the Plums were dynamite in their day. I feel terrible. Ag."

"John's calling Davis. He heard feet again." "I can't get them," John said anxiously. "Wire out of order, the operator says."

Aggie dropped the towel on a chair beside the bed. He was immobile for a second—two—three. He became paler. Perspiration dampened his forehead. On a chair were his black trousers, casually folded. He put them on over his pajamas. He stuffed in the tops as if they had tails, like a shirt. "I'll go over," he said quietly. "You stay with Sarah. Get her some water to drink. She's all right, but Dr. Davis should be here." He started for the door and came back for his pipe, tobacco and matches. Sarah was watching him and her eyes were scared.

He went through the steps he had taken on the night of the twentieth; getting keys from the teapot, reassuring Windle, starting the station wagon, driving swiftly through the blue dark, and banging on the Davis door. This time, lights flashed on. But Danielle came down the stairs in the same negligee. He sucked in his breath when he saw her. She swung open the door and said, "Yes?"

"Sarah's pretty sick. Your phone's not working—" "Oh, I'll wake Dad."

She was gone. Sharp steps upstairs. Distant knocking. Her voice calling her father. A door squealing open. Then the steps—running. She talked on the stairs. "He's not in his room. Hasn't been there! He—! Come on!"

Aggie followed her through the house again—as before. She threw words over her shoulder. "He said something—when I came home from the club—about going to his dark-room for a while."

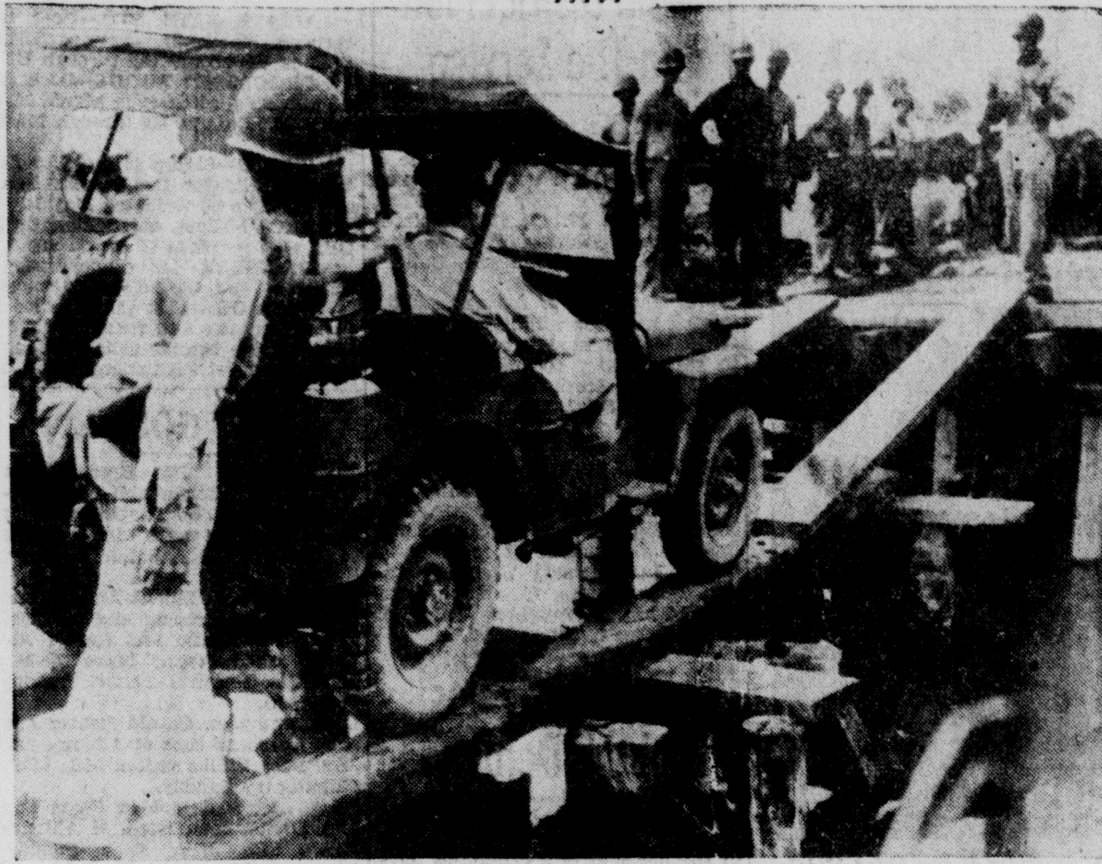

They went through the large, old-fashioned kitchen, a pantry, a woodshed. Down steps. Into the moonlight again. Danielle cried, "Yes!"

How To Relieve Bronchitis

Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

The light's on! Thank heaven! I was frightened!"

He could see a small square of light on the leaves of a maple. They entered the garage, passed the cars there, turned into the hall, and Danielle knocked on a door. No response. She twisted the handle. "Locked," she said. "Maybe he fell asleep." She raised her voice again. "Dad! Oh, Dad!"

Aggie reached in front of her and tried the handle. The door was locked, all right. And it was a sturdy door. He was trying to keep calm. "We could go out to that window—and look in. He may be taking a stroll. Visiting somebody. Something."

She jerked her head affirmatively and they ran back outdoors.

Not even the wisest man, holding a handful of crude petroleum from America's first oil well, could have foretold the miracles that lay within it. Or for that matter, can anyone foretell in full today.

Like man's first use of fire, metals, the wheel, and steam, the discovery of petroleum was world-changing. In it lay the secret of a new age—the age of machinery, speed, mass production, flight!

Petroleum brought better illumination.

Petroleum freed the muscles of man from drudging labor.

Petroleum introduced swift motor vehicles... roads worthy of their speed.

Petroleum made possible the miracles of mass production that produced the ever-rising American Standard of Living.

Petroleum lifted man into the air on wings.

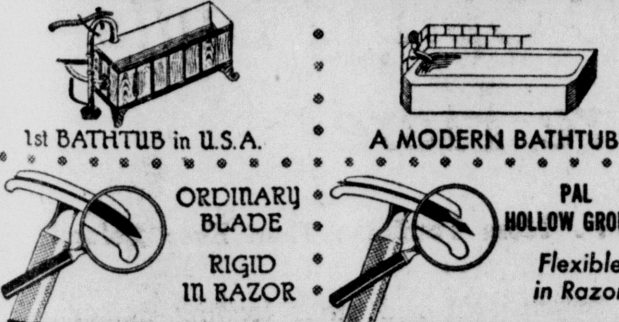

The development of the petroleum industry was just beginning when The Standard Oil Company was founded in 1870. In our 75 years we have been part of an industrial fairy tale that shames the wonders of the Arabian Nights. Looking forward, we glimpse awe-inspiring developments yet to come.

Geraldine Walker Is Bride Of Robert Lentz At E. Beech

Standing before an improvised arch decorated in patriotic colors of red, white and blue at the altar of the East Beech Evangelical and Reformed church, Miss Geraldine Walker, of Bear Alliance, became the bride of Pfc. Robert Lentz, son of Raymond Lentz of Salem, in an open church ceremony at 8 p. m. Monday.

Baskets of white lilies, ferns and palms formed the background for the chancel decorations that were lighted by seven branched candelabra at each side and by tall candles in the back.

Mrs. Roy John played the piano prelude to the ceremony.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was gown in white satin styled with a sweetheart neckline outlined in a sequin pattern, long pointed sleeves and a short train. Her finger-tip length veil of net fell from a tiara of the same material and she wore a strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom. Her bridal bouquet was of white roses.

Leading the attendants down the aisle was the bridesmaid, Miss Louise Powell, cousin of the bride.

Mary Maxine Everstine Bride of Alliance Man

Dr. B. L. George, pastor, officiated in a double ring ceremony that united in marriage Miss Mary Maxine Everstine, daughter of Mrs. Pauline Kistler of Salem, and Earl Raymond Wallace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wallace of Alliance, at 4 p. m. Sunday.

The nuptials were solemnized in the Bolton Methodist church by candle light with open church observed.

For her wedding the bride was costumed in a canary yellow suit with accessories in black and she carried an arm bouquet of Johanna Hill roses.

Her twin sister, Miss Geraldine Everstine, as maid of honor, wore a black suit with white accessories and her flowers were a shoulder corsage of pink roses.

Miss Dolores Wallace, sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaid was dressed in a navy blue suit with yellow accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Best man for the bridegroom was Herbert L. Hantz while Bernard Hantz was an attendant.

Approximately 30 guests attended the reception that followed in the church dining room where a large three-tiered wedding cake centered the refreshment table.

Mrs. Wallace, graduate of Salem High school in the class of 1942, attended Ashbury college in Kentucky and now is employed in the office of the Royal China Co. Inc., Sebring.

The newlyweds are at home at 115 E. Ohio ave., Sebring.

Indian Lore Program Held by WSCS Group 7

Group 7 of the W.S.O.S. of the Methodist church met last night at the church and enjoyed a special program on Indian Lore.

W. H. Matthews gave a talk on "The Indians of the Prairie." Miss Ella Stamp told of several trips she had taken among the various Indian tribes of the west.

Mrs. Dana Floding sang "Indian Love Song."

Devotionals were in charge of Mrs. Bertha Hoopes. Group singing was led by Ethel Shears and the program chairman was Mrs. Loren Early.

An interesting display of Indian novelties, jewelry and rugs, was displayed.

Thirty-two members and two guests attended the session. Mrs. Donald Guiley was accepted as a new member.

Mrs. Frank Stouder, Mrs. Wilford Stratton, Inez Heister, Mrs. Audrey Bertolotto and Opal Ruffert made up the refreshment committee.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Michael Schuller, E. Fourth st.

Mrs. Helen Smith Bride Of Floyd Rutter

Announcement of the marriage of Mrs. Helen M. Smith and Floyd F. Rutter, both of Lisbon, has been made by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McNutt of East Liverpool.

The ceremony was performed at 4:30 p. m. Saturday in the chapel of Trinity Methodist church, Youngstown, by the pastor, Rev. Russell Humbert.

Mr. Rutter is sales and production manager of the J. J. Bennett Printing Co. in Lisbon. After March 1 he and Mrs. Rutter will be at home at 443 W. Lincoln way, Lisbon.

Members of PHC Meet At Gardener Home

A meeting of the Protected Home Circle was held last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gardner, W. Second st.

Prizes for high scores in "500" games went to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lutzberger, Glenn Whinnery and Mrs. Wallace Sheehan. Special prizes went to Mrs. John Ormsby and Wallace Sheehan.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, Feb. 27, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sheehan, Rose ave.

Book Review Is Enjoyed By Mother's Club

A book review on "Mother Went Mad On Monday," by Ethel Huston, was given for the Progressive Mothers club last night by Miss Harriet Percival at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Russell, N. Ellisworth ave.

The next meeting will be held Feb. 27 at the home of Mrs. Huntley Pierce, Homewood ave. The topic will be "Do You Spoil Your Children?"

Members of the Bethlehem class of the Methodist church will meet at the church at 12:30 p. m. tomorrow for a coverdish dinner.

Mrs. D. R. McConnell will be in charge of the devotionals. Mrs. S. D. Whinnery is program chairman.

Geraldine Walker Is Bride Of Robert Lentz At E. Beech

Standing before an improvised arch decorated in patriotic colors of red, white and blue at the altar of the East Beech Evangelical and Reformed church, Miss Geraldine Walker, of East Alliance, became the bride of Pfc. Robert Lentz, son of Raymond Lentz of Salem, in an open church ceremony at 8 p. m. Monday.

Baskets of white lilies, ferns and palms formed the background for the chancel decorations that were lighted by seven branched candelabra at each side and by tall candles in the back.

Mrs. Roy John played the piano prelude to the ceremony. Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was gown in white satin styled with a sweetheart neckline outlined in a sequin pattern, long pointed sleeves and a short train. Her finger-tip length veil of net fell from a tiara of the same material and she wore a strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom. Her bridal bouquet was of white roses.

Leading the attendants down the aisle was the bridesmaid, Miss Louise Powell, cousin of the bride.

Mary Maxine Everstine Bride of Alliance Man

Dr. B. L. George, pastor, officiated in a double ring ceremony that united in marriage Miss Mary Maxine Everstine, daughter of Mrs. Pauline Kistler of Salem, and Earl Raymond Wallace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wallace of Alliance, at 4 p. m. Sunday.

The nuptials were solemnized in the Bolton Methodist church by candle light with open church observed.

For her wedding the bride was costumed in a creamy yellow suit with accessories in black and she carried an arm bouquet of Johanna Hill roses.

Her twin sister, Miss Geraldine Everstine, as maid of honor, wore a black suit with white accessories and her flowers were a shoulder corsage of pink roses.

Miss Delores Wallace, sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaid was dressed in a navy blue suit with yellow accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Best man for the bridegroom was Herbert L. Hantz while Bernard Hantz was an attendant.

Approximately 30 guests attended the reception that followed in the church dining room where a large three-tiered wedding cake centered the refreshment table.

Mrs. Wallace, graduate of Salem High school in the class of 1942, attended Ashbury college in Kentucky and now is employed in the office of the Royal China Co., Inc., Sebring.

Her husband, graduate of Alliance High school in the class of 1941, is employed by the Perco Floor Covering Co.

The newlyweds are at home at 115 E. Ohio ave., Sebring.

Indian Lore Program Held by WSCS Group 7

Group 7 of the W.S.C.S. of the Methodist church met last night at the church and enjoyed a special program on Indian Lore.

W. H. Matthews gave a talk on "The Indians of the Prairie." Miss Ella Stamp told of several trips she had taken among the various Indian tribes of the west.

Mrs. Dana Floding sang "Indian Love Song."

Devotionals were in charge of Mrs. Bertha Hoopes. Group singing was led by Ethel Shears and the program chairman was Mrs. Loren Early.

An interesting display of Indian novelties, jewelry and rugs, was displayed.

Thirty-two members and two guests attended the session. Mrs. Donald Guiley was accepted as a new member.

Mrs. Frank Stoudt, Mrs. Wilford Stratton, Inez Heisker, Mrs. Audrey Bertolette and Opal Ruffert made up the refreshment committee.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Michael Schuller, E. Fourth st.

Mrs. Helen Smith Bride Of Floyd Rutter

Announcement of the marriage of Mrs. Helen M. Smith and Floyd F. Rutter, both of Lisbon, has been made by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McNitt of East Liverpool.

The ceremony was performed at 4:30 p. m. Saturday in the chapel of Trinity Methodist church, Youngstown, by the pastor, Rev. Russell Humbert.

Mr. Rutter is sales and production manager of the J. J. Bennett Printing Co. in Lisbon. After March 1 he and Mrs. Rutter will be at home at 443 W. Lincoln way, Lisbon.

News and Views, Briefly On What's Going On In Capital

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 — The struggle for more jobs and business opportunities for servicemen was right up in the front row today. Special aid was promised by Chester Bowles for returning veterans in starting into new businesses right away.
The American Legion, looking to the postwar period, emphasized that more jobs must be found in sales, service and distribution fields.
The Office of Price Administration announced a program designed to accomplish these ends:
Changes in rationing regulations which restrict the business field to those who were in it before a certain date;
Changes in rationing regulations, especially on sugar, fats and oils;
Consideration under a uniform government policy of the business needs of veterans entering new businesses.
A special advisory service to veterans in OPA's national, regional and district offices will be provided, Bowles added.

AN AMERICAN DOUGHBOY WHO FELL IN BELGIUM

THE BODY OF A DEAD AMERICAN soldier lies in the snow on a road to Lierneux, Belgium. A cross made from his own bayonet and scabbard was a gesture put up by his buddies as a final tribute during the advance of the American First Army. (International)

LEAVES FROM A WAR CORRESPONDENT'S NOTEBOOK

by Hal Boyle

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN BELGIUM—Every soldier in his training worries how he will react to combat—to the sight of death on the battlefield.

How it affected one young soldier is told in a recent letter to me and Jack Thompson, Chicago Tribune correspondent. It was written by Johnny Hess, former assistant program producer at radio station WGN, Chicago.

Johnny is motor officer for the 743rd tank battalion, an outfit which has mixed in many scraps since landing on D-day last June. Johnny has been with it for the last four months and has seen much fighting himself. His letter said:

"I used to wonder before I came to a combat outfit how I would react to the dead ones. I don't know quite why it is, but I find I don't react in any special way.

"My driver will say to me when we are riding along the front line area 'There's a couple more.' And I will look and there will be a couple of men beside the road, lying very still, their skin paper-white, and now, in the winter, frozen stiff and brittle looking.

"Once in awhile I think someone will be weeping for them. I wonder if the man had a wife and what she's doing at this minute when her husband now is suddenly dead and lying so still and so grotesquely on the snow alongside a road in Belgium. But you don't often think about it and you go right on about your business.

"It isn't much different when you hear about someone in the outfit who has been killed, except that there is more of a shock because it's a little closer. Someone will mention a death and you will remember that he was a little square guy with a deep voice and big hands who always wore dirty green dungarees and who helped you push your peep out of a rut one day near Alscorf, and you will say, 'Oh, gee' and want to know how it happened.

"And very, very shortly afterward you forget about it because there have been too many of them, and there will be more and closer ones than that, you know.

"Sorrow begins for sure when a friend goes but that's no different than when a friend dies in the days of peace. Here it happens more often, more suddenly, more violently, and you say damn the war and remember how you joked with your sq of not untu ppor pus pusstj damn hero and to watch out what he was doing before he went into this last action where he was hit.

"You remember he was a gentle young guy, and smart, and that he laughed a lot, that he was just, and curious and that you once had borrowed his cigaret lighter and never returned it—which was a standing joke between you. Then, too, you know that there's another good one gone that there are so few of them, so pitifully few.

"That hurts as much as any of it."

The Army Nurse! . . . The girl who stops at nothing to save the life of an American soldier . . . the girl who answers the call "Nurse" whenever and from wherever it comes . . . the girl whose skilled and caressing hands help to mend broken bodies — whose well trained mind helps to rebuild morale — whose generous heart inspires hope and courage. Yes, this is the wounded G. I.'s "Best Girl" — the girl who will live in his heart forever!

Your wounded soldiers depend on the Army Nurse for the physical care and loving kindness that often means the difference between life and death. They need you desperately. And with the rising tide of the war comes an even greater need. The casualties are mounting — mounting fast. The Army must recruit 10,000 nurses at once.

Every American woman can help. If you are untrained — take a home nursing or nurse's aide course. If you are a senior cadet nurse — serve the final six months of your training period in an Army Hospital. If you are a registered nurse — join the Army Nurse Corps — but answer this great call. WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 — The struggle for more jobs and business opportunities for servicemen was right up in the front row today.

Special aid was promised by Chester Bowles for returning veterans in starting into new businesses right away.

The American Legion, looking to the postwar period, emphasized that more jobs must be found in sales, service and distribution fields.

The Office of Price Administration announced a program designed to accomplish these ends:

Changes in rationing regulations which restrict the business field to those who were in it before a certain date;

Changes in rationing regulations, especially on sugar, fats and oils;

Consideration under a uniform government policy of the business needs of veterans entering new businesses.

A special advisory service to veterans in OPA's national, regional and district offices will be provided, Bowles added.

Quakers Capture 13th Win In 16 Games On Bengals' Court

Score 53-27 Victory Over Weak Wellsville Squad But Show Tournament Prospects

Capturing their 13th victory in 16 games, the Salem Quakers came home from Wellsville's spacious Beacom gymnasium last night with a 53-27 triumph tucked under their belts.

The game was encouraging from one important angle: It proved Salem can go to town on a strange, large floor.

That point is important because the type of floor the Quakers performed on last night is exactly the type they will encounter straight through tournament play—as far as they may go.

It took the locals just about four minutes of the first quarter to get adjusted to the roomy court. Wellsville stepped into the lead 1-0 in the first minute and countered a few minutes later to tie it 4-4.

Quaker power and ball-handling soon told the tale and gave quick evidence of how the margin was going to be. By the end of the period the locals were out in front, 19-7.

Coach Bob Miller's lads used all their offenses, employing the double pivot for a short period and then drifting back to their more permanent style, which seemed to work best against the Bengal zone defense.

By halftime the Quakers had increased their margin to 35-13.

Once again, however, despite the fact that Miller left the starters in a good portion of the final two periods, the Salem offense dwindled down to almost nothing in the third and fourth periods. In the third, Salem got eight points and in the fourth, only 10.

Walt Brian and Mutt Schaeffer showed the way as far as total points were concerned. The two lanky seniors, working smoothly under the boards, collected 17 points each.

Ray Kelly, who goes to Cleveland today for a Navy physical exam, turned in a good show, getting six points, but doing his best work under the baskets and in ball grabbing in the center court. The scrappy junior led puts a world of push into Salem's offense and defense and his high competitive spirit is all-important to the Quaker outfit.

At no time during the game did the Bengal squad show enough polish to measure up to Salem's standard. However, the outclassed lads turned in a fighting game.

They scrapped all the way and looked in the final period, when the seconds were down to a few, just as anxious to make points as when the show began.

Coach Wally Ingalls of Wellsville was high in praise of the Salem team after the game. The Bengal mentor said Salem had the best, most well-rounded offense and defense of any team he has seen this season.

Coach Miller's lads dumped in 11 of 17 fouls while Wellsville made good on seven of 12. From the floor Salem scored 19 times under basket and twice on long shots. Wellsville got nine of their 11 baskets from close in.

The loss was the ninth in 17 games for the Bengals.

Salem plays Struthers, a strong outfit, in the final home game here Friday. The last game of the regular season is at Sebring the following Friday.

ROBINSON-COSTNER FIGHT MAY SETTLE CHAMP'S NEXT FOE

Winner of Bout Between Two 'Sugars Will Meet Welterweight King

BY JIMMY JORDAN

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—A dusky welterweight boxer who, just three years ago, idolized another welterweight so much he even adopted the latter's ring nickname, will meet a New Yorker tonight in a ten-round bout of championship possibilities.

The two are Ray (Sugar) Robinson of New York and George (Sugar) Costner, Cincinnati Negro. Both are discharged veterans of World War II.

Costner, who began fighting about three years ago, campaigned with indifferent success among the preliminaries for more than a year before induction. Discharged from the Army several months ago, he has won 23 straight fights by knockouts. Insofar as welterweights are concerned, he is near the top.

Robinson, classified by many as the uncrowned king of the welterweights, received an honorable discharge from the Army last June. He has won eight fights since, six by knockouts, while he awaited a go at Champion Freddie (Red) Cochrane, recently discharged from the Navy.

Tonight's fight should reveal the challenger for Cochrane's crown. Robinson, with dynamite in both fists and plenty of speed, has been installed as favorite, though odds have dropped from 3-1 to 8-5. Costner, too, is a lethal puncher and has speed, but whether he can get past the ring-wise Robinson is the "x" in the equation.

Plenty of backers believe he can, but there are those who wonder if Costner can take a punch—and he'll probably have to against Robinson. The Cincinnati Youth, married and the father of a two-year-old son, never has been knocked off his feet.

Matchmaker Jack Hurley has predicted the gate will be "at least $90,000 and should pass the $100,000 mark."

POTTERS WIN 18TH AT STEUBENVILLE

Take 57-45 Contest From Central As They Prep For McKinley Fray

STEUBENVILLE, Feb. 14.—East Liverpool romped to their 15th win in 18 games last night, 57-45, at the Steubenville Central gymnasium over a stubborn but out-classed Central crew.

Coach Don Odgen's boys led 12-8 at the quarter, 24-17 at the half and won going away in spite of a Central spurt in the third period.

The Potter reserve suffered a surprise setback, 27-25, in the preliminary.

East Liverpool is priming seriously for a bout with the powerful Canton McKinley Bulldogs on the home floor Saturday night. As yet the Potters have not been beaten at home and are determined to upset the strong Canton squad.

SCOTTIE DOG WINS TOP KENNEL AWARD

By Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—After a lapse of 34 years, a Scottie finally won the best in show prize again at a Westminster Kennel Club exhibition, the 69th show, a two-day affair at Madison Square Garden which ended last night.

Winner in the Terrier variety class—one of six group victors to qualify—was the ebony-hued Scottie named Shieling's Signature brought joy to his owners and breeders, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Sneath of Allison Park, Pa. The little fellow will be three years old May 19. As all six finalists were American-bred, the Scottie automatically won that title, too.

Sports Chatter

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

By Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Latest suggestion for improving the college athletic setup comes from Dale Arbuckle, Oklahoma U. athletic director, calling for the colleges to establish a national eligibility committee.

Arbuckle points out that the Big Six conference schools have been making a little money on wartime athletics because the competition was more even than usual.

The committee, he thinks, would keep it even by establishing uniform eligibility rules for the nation's major conferences and by standardization of proselytizing and securing of jobs for athletes.

Yeah, but who's going to get the "gotta get a team" boys and the "we're pure" crowd to agree on the standards?

EXPERT OPINION

Red Patterson, the N. Y. Herald-Tribune scribe, was on his way to the Westminster dog show Monday when he encountered Hilda Chester, No. 1 Dodger fan, outside the Garden. . . . Hilda hastily explained she was merely buying hockey tickets. . . . "A dog show after watching the Dodgers all season," she said, "That shouldn't happen to me."

SHORTS AND SHELLS

Boxing's service athletic fund has turned to phone calls because it says a majority of camps are well equipped for boxing. But in the Persian Gulf command, the hottest G. I. boxing spot we know, the boys have been boxing for two years without ring shoes, protective devices or bag-punching gloves. The Army issued 16-ounce mittens but nothing else.

SIZE AIN'T EVERYTHING

This corner previously commented on the 49 personal fouls called in a basketball game between East and West High schools of Pawtucket, R. I. . . . now it develops that the same teams had met the previous night also and 52 personals were called, four players went out via the five-foul rule and two more were tossed out for roughness. . . . "A Pawtucket Pug" explains: "Seeing we are the smallest state in the union, we have to make up for our lack of size in fight."

New Members Sought For Salem Hunt Club

Members of the Salem Hunting club will meet at 8 p. m. tomorrow in the Memorial building to formulate complete plans for the club's first fox chase.

A report from the membership committee is expected at the session and a large turnout is hoped for so that hunt plans can be arranged to suit everyone. New members are still welcome and can join by simply making application at the meeting.

COLUMBIA REMAINS AT TOP IN LEAGUE

Due to an error in box scores in the results of the Mickey McGuire league play at the Memorial building Monday's league standings were incorrect.

Actually, Columbia Street School remained unbeaten Saturday by lacing Prospect 35-18, and consequently still occupies first place in the tie with St. Paul's.

The correct standings:

St. Paul's 3 0
Columbia 3 0
Fourth St. 1 2
Rolly 1 2
McKinley 1 2
Prospect 1 2

TOURNEY DRAWINGS SET FOR 7 MONDAY

Drawings for the sectional Class A basketball tournament at Youngstown will be held at 7 p. m. Monday in Room 209 at South High school. Dave Williams, dean of boys there and tournament manager, announced today.

The tourney will be held March 1, 2, 3 and 8, 9, 10 at the field house to decide which two teams will represent this section at the regionals in Kent a week later.

Four teams will be seeded, one in each bracket, and coaches will draw for their opponents and brackets at the meeting.

LOCAL KEGLER ON EXECUTIVE BOARD

Carrie Slagle, secretary of the Salem Women's Bowling association, was re-elected to the executive committee of the Ohio Women's Bowling association in Cleveland Sunday.

She heads a board of four other Ohio bowlers, which directs arrangements and plans for the annual tournaments sponsored by the association. The meeting was held at the state convention headquarters in Cleveland, where the annual women's tournament is now in progress.

Quakers Capture 13th Win In 16 Games On Bengals' Court

Score 53-27 Victory Over Weak Wellsville Squad But Show Tournament Prospects

Capturing their 13th victory in 16 games, the Salem Quakers came home from Wellsville's spacious Beacom gymnasium last night with a 53-27 triumph tucked under their belts.

The game was encouraging from one important angle: It proved Salem can go to town on a strange, large floor.

That point is important because the type of floor the Quakers performed on last night is exactly the type they will encounter straight through tournament play—as far as they may go.

It took the locals just about four minutes of the first quarter to get adjusted to the roomy court. Wellsville stepped into the lead 1-0 in the first minute and countered a few minutes later to tie it 4-4.

Quaker power and ball-handling soon told the tale and gave quick evidence of how the margin was going to be. By the end of the period the locals were out in front, 19-7.

Coach Bob Miller's lads used all their offense, employing the double pivot for a short period and then drifting back to their more permanent style, which seemed to work best against the Bengal zone defense.

By halftime the Quakers had increased their margin to 35-13.

Once again, however, despite the fact that Miller left the starters in a good portion of the final two periods, the Salem offense dwindled down to almost nothing in the third and fourth periods. In the third, Salem got eight points and in the fourth, only 10.

Wait Brian and Mutt Schaeffer showed the way as far as total points were concerned. The two lanky seniors, working smoothly under the boards, collected 17 points each.

Ray Kelly, who goes to Cleveland today for a Navy physical exam, turned in a good show, getting six points, but doing his best work under the baskets and in ball grabbing in the center court. The scrappy Junior lad puts a world of push into Salem's offense and defense and his high competitive spirit is all-important to the Quaker outfit.

At no time during the game did the Bengal squad show enough polish to measure up to Salem's standard. However, the outclassed lads turned in a fighting game.

They scrapped all the way and looked in the final period, when the seconds were down to a few, just as anxious to make points as when the show began.

Coach Wally Ingalls of Wellsville was high in praise of the Salem team after the game. The Bengal mentor said Salem had the best, most well-rounded offense and defense of any team he has seen this season.

Coach Miller's lads dumped in 11 of 17 fouls while Wellsville made good on seven of 12. From the floor Salem scored 19 times under basket and twice on long shots. Wellsville got nine of their 11 baskets from close in.

The loss was the ninth in 17 games for the Bengals.

Salem plays Struthers, a strong outfit, in the final home game here Friday. The last game of the regular season is at Sebring the following Friday.

ROBINSON-COSTNER FIGHT MAY SETTLE CHAMP'S NEXT FOE

Winner of Bout Between Two 'Sugars Will Meet Welterweight King

BY JIMMY JORDAN

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—A dusky welterweight boxer who, just three years ago, idolized another welterweight so much he even adopted the latter's ring nickname, will meet a New Yorker tonight in a ten-round bout of championship possibilities.

The two are Ray (Sugar) Robinson of New York and George (Sugar) Costner, Cincinnati Negro. Both are discharged veterans of World War II.

Costner, who began fighting about three years ago, campaigned with indifferent success among the preliminaries for more than a year before induction. Discharged from the Army several months ago, he has won 23 straight fights by knockouts. Insofar as welterweights are concerned, he is near the top.

Robinson, classified by many as the uncrowned king of the welterweights, received an honorable discharge from the Army last June. He has won eight fights since, six by knockouts, while he awaited a go at Champion Freddie (Red) Cochrane, recently discharged from the Navy.

Tonight's fight should reveal the challenger for Cochrane's crown. Robinson, with dynamite in both fists and plenty of speed, has been installed as favorite, though odds have dropped from 3-1 to 8-5. Costner, too, is a lethal puncher and has speed, but whether he can get past the ring-wise Robinson is the "X" in the equation.

Plenty of backers believe he can. Rish, but there are those who wonder if Costner can take a punch—and he'll probably have to against Robinson. The Cincinnati Youth, married and the father of a two-year-old son, never has been knocked off his feet.

Matchmaker Jack Hurley has predicted the gate will be "at least $20,000 and should pass the $100,000 mark."

POTTERS WIN 18TH AT STEUBENVILLE

Take 57-45 Contest From Central As They Prep For McKinley Fray

STEUBENVILLE, Feb. 14.—East Liverpool romped to their 15th win in 18 games last night, 57-45, at the Steubenville Central gymnasium over a stubborn but out-classed Central crew.

Coach Don Ogden's boys led 12-8 at the quarter, 24-17 at the half and went away in spite of a Central splurt in the third period.

The Potter reserve suffered a surprise setback, 27-25, in the preliminary.

East Liverpool is priming seriously for a bout with the powerful Canton McKinley Bulldogs on the home floor Saturday night. As yet the Potters have not been beaten at home and are determined to upset the strong Canton squad.

SCOTTIE DOG WINS TOP KENNEL AWARD

By Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—After a lapse of 34 years, a Scottie finally won the best in show prize again at a Westminster Kennel Club exhibition as that organization completed its 69th show, a two-day affair at Madison Square Garden which ended last night.

Winner in the Terrier variety class—of six group victors to qualify—the ebony-hued Scottie named Shelling's Signature brought joy to his owners and breeders, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Sneathens of Allison Park, Pa. The little fellow will be three years old May 19. As all six finalists were American-breds, the Scottie automatically won that title, too.

Sports Chatter

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Latest suggestion for improving the college athletic setup comes from Dale Arbuckle, Oklahoma U. athletic director, calling for the colleges to establish a national eligibility committee.

BYRON NELSON OUT TO SET NEW MARK AT MONEY WINNING

Richer After New Orleans Open Win, Ohioan Looks At Gulf Trophy

By SKIPPER PATRICK

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 14.—Byron Nelson—$1,333.33 richer for his sensational win in the New Orleans Open—was on his way to the Mississippi Gulf Coast today where he hopes to continue his bid for a new all-time tournament record in the $5,000 Gulfport open.

The Toledo, O., money-man golfer annexed his fourth tournament victory of the winter season in trimming hard-luck Harold (Jug) McSpaden by five strokes in an 18-hole play-off yesterday and needs only two more wins to tie the record set by Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Tex., in 1940.

Nelson gave one of the greatest exhibitions in winning the play-off over McSpaden on a soggy course made heavy by hard rains. His card was 32-33-65 for the 18 holes and he played perfect tee-to-green golf on all but one hole. He had 8 birdies, 7 pars and one bogey.

McSpaden's 1-under par 36-34-70 was never up to Nelson after the third hole.

Greatest Money So Far
Nelson not only has the greatest number of championships to his credit, but also the greatest amount of money. His victory in the New Orleans open boosted his earnings for 1945 to $7,266.65 in War Bonds (maturity value).

McSpaden, who blew a 5-stroke lead in the final round of the tournament's regular play Monday to fall into a 284 tie with Nelson, is without a championship this winter, but is second in War Bond earnings with $5,266.64.

Sam Byrd, the ex-Yankee outfielder from Detroit, got $180 for his work here and is third in money won for the year. Other leading War Bond winners this year include Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va., $3,846.67; Ray Mangrum, Los Angeles, who did not play here, $2,100; Denny Shute, Akron, O., $1,866.66, and Claude Harmon, Grosse Pointe, Mich., $1,981.74 (maturity value).

Nearly all the other participants here are already practicing on the Gulfport course where they hope to interrupt Nelson's winning streak.

McSpaden, the 1944 champion, is given the best chance to upset Nelson at Gulfport.

OPPOSES PENSION BILL FOR JUDGES

Luxury and Extravagance, Says Lausche; County Pay Boost Sought

COLUMBUS, Feb. 14.—The judges' pension bill had one strike on it today, called by Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

The governor said the pensions proposed in legislation introduced in the senate constituted "a luxury and an extravagance," and added many taxpayers would wonder how they could be justified.

Asked whether he would veto the bill in event the legislature passed it, Lausche declined to say at a press conference.

The legislation, offered by Senator Fred G. Reiners (R) of Cincinnati, would permit judges to retire at 60 on quarter pay after 12 years' service; on half pay after 18 years' service. They would be required to contribute 4 per cent of their salary to the pension fund.

In the senate yesterday salary increases of 25 per cent were proposed for county officials in a bill introduced by Senator Ralph A. Winter (R) of Medina county.

The measure, fixing a minimum of $1800 a year, and a maximum of $7500, would apply to county commissioners, auditor, treasurer, county clerk, sheriff, recorder and prosecutor.

Ohio banks and building and loan associations would be authorized to make home loans, guaranteed by the federal government, to service men under bills approved by the senate and sent to the house.

The senate gave final approval to a bill carrying $8,000,000 for highway construction.

The appointment of Mrs. Maude

McQuate of Cleveland to the liquor control board was approved unanimously by the senate rules committee and was expected to come up for a vote in the senate today.

Complete Testimony In Trial of 2 Spies

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—A seven-man military commission with power to impose the death penalty began considering today the fate of William C. Colepaugh and Erich Gimpel, accused as Nazi spies.

The prosecution declared in its summation that Colepaugh's testimony that he saw in his mission an opportunity to get away from the Nazis was a "brazen defense" and asked for a verdict of guilty on all three counts.

One charge—that of being spies in violating the 82nd article of war—carries a mandatory death penalty upon conviction by five members of the court. Testimony was completed yesterday.

Corregidor Less Strongly Fortified Than In 1942

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Navy officials believed Corregidor, the rock in Manila bay, is less strongly fortified now than when it fell to American and Filipino defenders so reluctantly yielded it in the spring of 1942.

Nevertheless, Corregidor and other fortifications guarding the harbor must be reduced to impotency and the bay must be swept clear of mines before the harbor can be used by American ships.

To that end, it was disclosed, the rock is being blasted with one of the greatest concentration of bombs ever laid on a single point.

Soldier Who Refused To Drill Now Faces Five Years In Jail

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The court-martial sentence of the 27-year-old private who refused to drill at a California army camp has been reduced from death to five years imprisonment. Senators learned today.

The modification was officially declared to have been made "to equalize the sentence in accord with War department policy."

Chairman Thomas (D-Utah) of the senate military committee was informed of developments in a letter from Maj. Gen. Myron C. Cramer, judge advocate general.

The original death sentence, handed down against Pvt. Henry Weber at Camp Roberts, Calif., Feb. 3, previously had been revoked by the trial court itself and the soldier sentenced to life in hard labor.

Poor Relief Shows Drop

COLUMBUS, Feb. 14.—Poor relief costs in Ohio declined a bit in January, although the number of recipients increased slightly.

A total of 11,630 persons were on the rolls, compared with 11,501 in December. The cost was $483,200 compared with $503,751 the month before. The reason, said the Welfare department, was that clothing to carry indigent through the winter was bought in December.

Dog, Cattle Shows Part

Of OCD Convention Ban

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The government's convention ban now covers dogs and cattle shows and similar exhibitions.

An official of the Office of Defense Transportation said yesterday the decision was made only recently, too late to affect the Westminster dog show in New York. The ban does not apply, he said, if the events are purely local in nature and do not involve inter-city transportation, and housing accommodations.

Tells of Peace Riot

LONDON, Feb. 14.—A captured German soldier was quoted in Moscow broadcast today as reporting a large scale peace demonstration occurred last week in Leipzig, and that the demonstrators were dispersed by Nazi fliers using tear gas.

PRESIDENT

Big Three had agreed there should be a general peace conference.

Explains Situation

He explained the situation this way:

In Greece, Poland and Yugoslavia the American people had seen conditions arising before the Crimea conference which they believed were leading to the establishment of British and Russian spheres of influence. They felt they would be compelled to underwrite such arrangements without having any hand in making them.

This danger arose from the fact that the passage of war left many of the small states in political disorder. Factional leaders strove for power. They sought the support of either Britain or Russia and tried to play those great nations off against each other.

The declaration on liberated areas is designed to put an end to these conditions by joining the United States, Britain and Russia firmly in an agreement to take only joint action when necessary to restore order and set up governments in liberated countries. The Big Three are pledged, too, to uphold the independence and free choice of their own governments by the peoples concerned.

Whenever it becomes necessary for the big powers to set up a government or restore order they will appoint a joint commission to handle the job. This has been done in the case of Poland, the object being to reorganize the present Polish government at Moscow to include "democratic leadership" not now represented.

OBITUARY

MISS SADIE A. LOOP

Sadie A. Loop, 92, a life long resident of this vicinity, died at 11:15 a. m. yesterday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ella Bleam, on the Lisbon road, following a heart attack and an illness of one week.

Born May 12, 1852, the daughter of Lidia and Samuel Loop, near Salem, she spent her entire life here. She was a member of the Phillips Christian church.

Surviving, besides her sister, are a son, H. N. Loop, of Salem; another sister, Mrs. Hattie Culp, also of Salem, and two grandchildren.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Stark Memorial, in charge of Rev. Lawrence Ray. Burial will be in Grandview cemetery.

Friends may call at the Stark Memorial from 7 to 9 tonight.

EMMETT CANNON

LISBON, Feb. 14.—Emmett Cannon, 75, a retired farmer and life-long resident of this vicinity, died at his home on the Salineville road, south of Lisbon, early today following an illness of a year and a half.

Born March 11, 1869, in Elkrun township, the son of Matthew and Elizabeth Cannon, he had spent his entire life farming in this section.

His first wife, Annie Allison Cannon, formerly of Canfield, preceded him in death in 1911. His present wife, Mrs. Una Cannon, survives.

Surviving, besides his wife, are a son, Frank of Youngstown, and a sister, Mrs. Ollie Todd of Alliance.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at the Henry Funeral home in charge of Rev. C. L. Cope of Lisbon. Burial will be in the Lisbon cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday afternoon and evening.

Brake Inspection At

Regular Periods Urged

Hydraulic brake hose failures are on the increase, according to Albert P. Morris, manager of the Columbiana County Motor club. If you haven't had your brakes inspected recently, it would be a wise move to do so.

The brake hose will deteriorate quickly if oil or grease is permitted to accumulate on the outside of the hose. The use of the wrong type brake fluid will cause internal disintegration. Loss of brake fluid through the hose may be gradual, but suddenly, when you need your brakes in an emergency, you may find you have none.

Regular inspection and cleaning of brakes is a good precautionary measure. Anticipating stops and avoiding sudden stops will add to the life of the brakes as well as the tires. More important than the ability to start and drive your car is the ability to stop it properly and quickly. Don't neglect your brakes—they may be the most important piece of equipment on your car if trouble develops.

Junior Fair Manager

Takes Agriculture Job

COLUMBUS, Feb. 14.—Appointment of Bryan P. Sandles of Columbus, junior fair manager since 1930, as assistant director of agriculture was announced today. He is 48.

Sandles was given a leave of absence from his fair manager's post, which carries a civil service rating, to take the unclassified position.

Sandles succeeds Mrs. Lottie Randolph of New Lexington.

Striker Headed for Army

CLEVELAND, Feb. 14.—Victor R. Stemberger, key figure in last month's strike involving members of the CIO Utility Workers Organizing committee employed by the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co., has passed his pre-induction physical examination.

Stemberger, who is 29 and the father of three children, was reclassified I-A by his draft board following the strike.

TURN SMITH

purpose of taking him across the state line into Pennsylvania.

Judge Rescinds Order

Tuesday afternoon Judge Sharp rescinded this order and ordered him released to the custody of Sgt. Thomas E. Jones of the Pennsylvania state police and Detective Michael J. Kane of Beaver county, Pa.

The court order read that he was to be surrendered to them "to be taken before the common pleas court of Beaver county, Pa., to answer the charge of robbery," and that if he is not sentenced to imprisonment by that court, "it is agreeable that he be taken forthwith before the common pleas court of Westmoreland county, Pa., to answer a charge of robbery," and if the defendant is not sentenced to imprisonment by that court he is to be returned by police officers to the county jail at Youngstown.

Future Action Uncertain

The court entry is silent as to any steps that might be taken should the Pennsylvania authorities refuse to return the prisoner, or sentence him there. No time limit for his return was set in the new entry. Presumably the original $10,000 bond remains.

Thus closed another chapter in the three-week-old fight by Smith's attorneys to have him appear before the Pennsylvania authorities before sentence was pronounced here.

Meanwhile, the Mahoning county sheriff holds warrants from at least two other places where Smith is wanted for stickups.

Burbick Back On Job

LISBON, Feb. 14.—Robert T. Burbick of East Liverpool, chief deputy in the probate court, was back at his desk Tuesday, partially recovered from a double fracture of the leg suffered in his home last December.

Burbick who began his tenure as chief deputy under Homer W. Hammond, has been reappointed by Judge Milton C. Cope.

Way Is Opened For Lewis To Return to Federation

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 14.—John L. Lewis' demand that his United Mine Workers be represented on the executive council if he returns to the AFL presented new, but presumably surmountable, obstacles to reunion today.

The council meeting here now to consider Lewis' demand to the American Federation of Labor, was said to be willing to give Lewis or his representative a place among them, but they couldn't guarantee it, since Lewis or his agent would have to be elected a vice president first.

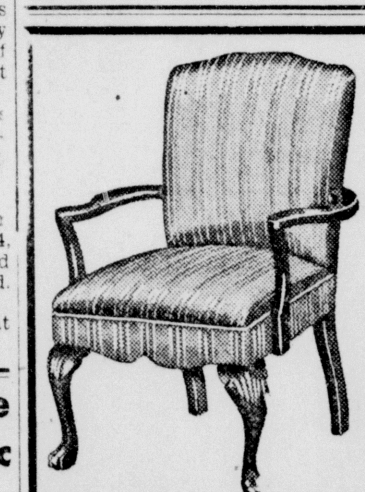

Should a vacancy develop between conventions of the federation, Lewis could be appointed to fill it.

President William Green has wired Lewis, pointing this out, and since Lewis is aware of the federation's bylaws he was expected here to agree without delay. This would make possible his return to the AFL before the council adjourns Thursday night or Friday.

think it possible to defend the capital when the Japanese invade Luzon.

It looks very much as though Yamashita, being blockaded from further help from home and knowing defense of Luzon was thus rendered hopeless, decided to fight a guerrilla-type delaying action in accordance with the general Japanese strategy. He was shrewd enough to see that MacArthur couldn't leave isolated pockets of enemy troops scattered about, as he has in previous operations. That won't work in Luzon because our task is to free them entirely from the invaders.

It's quite possible Yamashita and his high staff officers already have fled Luzon, leaving the troops and lesser commanders to fight it out. That is a customary procedure with the Japanese. They don't believe in sacrificing their top men if they can help it.

OPPOSES PENSION BILL FOR JUDGES

Luxury and Extravagance, Says Lausche; County Pay Boost Sought

COLUMBUS, Feb. 14.—The judges' pension bill had one strike on it today, called by Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

The governor said the pensions proposed in legislation introduced in the senate constituted "a luxury and an extravagance," and added many taxpayers would wonder how they could be justified.

Complete Testimony In Trial of 2 Spies

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—A seven-man military commission with power to impose the death penalty began considering today the fate of William C. Colepaugh and Erich Gimpel, accused as Nazi spies.

The prosecution declared in its summation that Colepaugh's testimony that he saw in his mission an opportunity to get away from the Nazis was a "brazen defense" and asked for a verdict of guilty on all three counts.

One charge—that of being spies in violating the 82nd article of war—carries a mandatory death penalty upon conviction by five members of the court. Testimony was completed yesterday.

Corregidor Less Strongly Fortified Than In 1942

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Navy officials believed Corregidor, the rock in Manila bay, is less strongly fortified now than when its American and Filipino defenders so reluctantly yielded it in the spring of 1942.

Nevertheless, Corregidor and other fortifications guarding the harbor must be reduced to impotency and the bay must be swept clear of mines before the harbor can be used by American ships.

To that end, it was disclosed, the rock is being blasted with one of the greatest concentration of bombs ever laid on a single point.

Soldier Who Refused To Drill Now Faces Five Years In Jail

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The court-martial sentence of the 27-year-old private who refused to drill at a California army camp has been reduced from death to five years imprisonment. Senators learned today.

The modification was officially declared to have been made "to equalize the sentence in accord with war department policy."

Chairman Thomas (D-Utah) of the senate military committee was informed of developments in a letter from Maj. Gen. Myron C. Cramer, judge advocate general. The original death sentence, handed down against Pvt. Henry Weber at Camp Roberts, Calif., Feb. 3, previously had been revoked by the trial court itself and the soldier sentenced to life at hard labor.

Poor Relief Shows Drop

COLUMBUS, Feb. 14.—Poor relief costs in Ohio declined a bit in January, although the number of recipients increased slightly.

A total of 11,630 persons were on the rolls, compared with 11,501 in December. The cost was $483,200 compared with $503,751 the month before. The reason, said the Welfare department, was that clothing to carry indigent through the winter was bought in December.

Fenced In

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 14.—Actor Michael Auer broke his right leg when he chased a prowler over a fence at his home early yesterday.

Dog, Cattle Shows Part Of OCD Convention Ban

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The government's convention ban now covers dogs and cattle shows and similar exhibitions.

An official of the Office of Defense Transportation said yesterday the ban was made only recently, too late to affect the Westminster dog show in New York. The ban does not apply, he said, if the events are purely local in nature and do not involve inter-city transportation, and housing accommodations.

Tells of Peace Riot

LONDON, Feb. 14.—A captured German soldier was quoted in a Moscow broadcast today as reporting a large scale peace demonstration occurred last week in Leipzig, and that the demonstrators were dispersed by Nazi fliers using tear gas.

PRESIDENT

Big Three had agreed there should be a general peace conference.

Explains Situation

He explained the situation this way: In Greece, Poland and Yugoslavia the American people had seen conditions arising before the Crimea conference which they believed were leading to the establishment of British and Russian spheres of influence. They felt they would be compelled to underwrite such arrangements without having had any hand in making them.

This danger arose from the fact that the passage of war left many of the small states in political disorder. Factional leaders strove for power. They sought the support of either Britain or Russia and tried to play those great nations off against each other.

The declaration on liberated areas is designed to put an end to these conditions by joining the United States, Britain and Russia firmly in an agreement to take only joint action when necessary to restore order and set up governments in liberated countries. The Big Three are pledged, too, to uphold the independence and free choice of their own governments by the peoples concerned.

Whenever it becomes necessary for the big powers to set up a government or restore order they will appoint a joint commission to handle details. This has been done in the case of Poland, the object being to reorganize the present Polish government at Moscow to include "democratic leadership" not now represented.

OBITUARY

MISS SADIE A. LOOP

Sadie A. Loop, 92, a life long resident of this vicinity, died at 11:15 a. m. yesterday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ella Bleam, on the Lisbon road, following a heart attack and an illness of one week.

Born May 12, 1852, the daughter of Lydia and Samuel Loop, near Salem, she spent her entire life here. She was a member of the Phillips Christian church.

Surviving, besides her sister, are a son, H. N. Loop, of Salem; another sister, Mrs. Hattie Culp, also of Salem, and two grandchildren.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Stark Memorial, in charge of Rev. Lawrence Ray. Burial will be in Grandview cemetery.

Friends may call at the Stark Memorial from 7 to 9 tonight.

EMMETT CANNON

LISBON, Feb. 14.—Emmett Cannon, 75, a retired farmer and life-long resident of this vicinity, died at his home on the Salineville road, south of Lisbon, early today following an illness of a year and a half. Born March 11, 1869, in Elkrun township, the son of Matthew and Elizabeth Cannon, he had spent his entire life farming in this section.

His first wife, Annie Allison Cannon, formerly of Canfield, preceded him in death in 1911. His present wife, Mrs. Una Cannon, survives.

Surviving, besides his wife, are a son, Frank of Youngstown, and a sister, Mrs. Ollie Todd of Alliance.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at the Henry Funeral home in charge of Rev. C. L. Cope of Lisbon. Burial will be in the Lisbon cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday afternoon and evening.

Brake Inspection At Regular Periods Urged

Hydraulic brake hose failures are on the increase, according to Albert P. Morris, manager of the Columbiana County Motor club. If you haven't had your brakes inspected recently, it would be a wise move to do so.

The brake hose will deteriorate quickly if oil or grease is permitted to accumulate on the outside of the hose. The use of the wrong type brake fluid will cause internal disintegration. Loss of brake fluid through the hose may be gradual, but suddenly, when you need your brakes in an emergency, you may find you have none.

Regular inspection and cleaning of brakes is a good precautionary measure. Anticipating stops and avoiding sudden stops will add to the life of the brakes as well as the tires. More important than the ability to start and drive your car is the ability to stop it properly and quickly. Don't neglect your brakes—they may be the most important piece of equipment on your car if trouble develops.

Junior Fair Manager Takes Agriculture Job

COLUMBUS, Feb. 14.—Appointment of Bryan P. Sandies of Columbus, junior fair manager since 1930, as assistant director of agriculture was announced today. He is 40.

Sandies was given a leave of absence from his fair manager's post, which carries a civil service rating, to take the unclassified position. Sandies succeeds Mrs. Lottie Randolph of New Lexington.

Striker Headed for Army

CLEVELAND, Feb. 14.—Victor R. Stemberger, key figure in last month's strike involving members of the CIO Utility Workers Organizing committee employed by the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co., has passed his pre-induction physical examination.

Stemberger, who is 29 and the father of three children, was reclassified I-A by his draft board following the strike.

TURN SMITH

purpose of taking him across the state line into Pennsylvania.

Judge Rescinds Order

Tuesday afternoon Judge Sharp rescinded this order and ordered him released to the custody of Sgt. Thomas E. Jones of the Pennsylvania state police and Detective Michael J. Kane of Beaver county, Pa.

The court order read that he was to be surrendered to them "to be taken before the common pleas court of Beaver county, Pa., to answer the charge of robbery," and that if he is not sentenced to imprisonment by that court, "it is agreeable that he be taken forthwith before the common pleas court of Westmoreland county, Pa., to answer a charge of robbery," and if the defendant is not sentenced to imprisonment by that court he is to be returned by police officers to the county jail at Youngstown.

Future Action Uncertain

The court entry is silent as to any steps that might be taken should the Pennsylvania authorities refuse to return the prisoner, or sentence him there. No time limit for his return was set in the new entry. Presumably the original $10,000 bond remains.

Thus closed another chapter in the three-week-old fight by Smith's attorneys to have him appear before the Pennsylvania authorities before sentence was pronounced here.

Meanwhile, the Mahoning county sheriff filed warrants for at least two other places where Smith is wanted for stickups.

Birbeck back on job
LISBON, Feb. 14.—Robert T. Birbeck of East Liverpool, chief deputy in the probate court, was back at his desk Tuesday, partially recovered from a double fracture of the leg suffered in his home last December.

Birbeck who began his tenure as chief deputy under Homer W. Hammond, has been reappointed by Judge Milton C. Cope.

Way Is Opened For Lewis To Return to Federation

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 14.—John L. Lewis' demand that his United Mine Workers be represented on the executive council if he returns to the AFL presented new, but presumably surmountable, obstacles to reunion today.

The council, meeting here now to consider Lewis' demand to the American Federation of Labor, was said to be willing to give Lewis or his representative a place among them, but they couldn't guarantee it, since Lewis or his agent would have to be elected a vice president first.

Should a vacancy develop between conventions of the federation, Lewis could be appointed to fill it.

President William Green has wired Lewis, pointing this out, and since Lewis is aware of the federation's bylaws he was expected here to agree without delay. This would make possible his return to the AFL before the council adjourns Thursday night or Friday.

think it possible to defend the capital when the Japanese invade Luzon.

It looks very much as though Yamashita, being blockaded from further help from home and knowing defense of Luzon was thus rendered hopeless, decided to fight a guerrilla-type delaying action in accordance with the general Japanese strategy. He was shrewd enough to see that MacArthur couldn't leave isolated pockets of enemy troops scattered about, as he has in previous operations. That won't work in Luzon because our task is to free them entirely from the invaders.

It's quite possible Yamashita and his high staff officers already have fled Luzon, leaving the troops and lesser commanders to fight it out. That is a customary procedure with the Japanese. They don't believe in sacrificing their top men if they can help it.
